Area schools get high marks

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

It's official. We have some smart kids on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The Hancock County, Bay St. Louis-Waveland and Pass Christian public school districts all brought home high marks Friday when the Mississippi Department of Education publicly released test scores.

The MDE released local school district and school level test scores on Friday, including results of the Mississippi Curriculum Test (MCT), the Mississippi Writing Assessment, the Subject Area Testing Program (SATP) and the Terra Nova.

On the MDE's website, state Superintendent of Education Dr. Henry L. Johnson said he is "pleased that statewide averages are continuing to go up. These test results will be valuable to students, parents, educators and local communities to continue to improve.

"They provide an effective measurement tool showing where we are and where we need to go to help every school and every student improve."

According to the MDE website, "The MCT is a criterion-referenced test aligned with the Mississippi Curriculum Frameworks and national standards. Students in grades 2-8 take the

After several years of battling against a local business owner, Martin DeSalvo's day in court finally arrived on Wednesday.

Since the mid-'90s, DeSalvo has filed complaint after complaint against Joey Boudin, who owns Boudin's Environmental Services LLC on Harbor Drive in Bayou Phillips -- and battled the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, claiming it hasn't made Boudin comply with zoning ordinances.

Boudin mines dirt, clears land, demolishes buildings, pumps out septic tanks and rents out portable toilets as part of his various businesses within a residential area. DeSalvo hopes to bring

The Stennis Buffer Zone could be the chosen location for a new Southern Regional Wastewater District sewer treatment plant scheduled to be built in West Hancock County.

Digital engineer Bruce Newton said he is looking into a piece of property located on Hwy. 90 near Lower Bay Road at the Port Bienville Industrial Park turnoff where the old truck scales used to be located.

Camille - 34 years ago today

Many residents of the area found their homes mangled among all types of debris after the tidal wave of Camille touched the majority of Hancock County's land mass south of I-10.

Hurricane devastates Gulf Coast

This article is a reprint from "Camille", a publication compiled by the Staff of the Sea Coast Echo, originally printed in October, 1969

On August 14, 1969, a rapidly formed tropical storm located in the Caribbean near Grand Cayman Island was noted. She was somewhat benign moving along at about 10 miles an hour and didn't reach hurricane intensity until the morning of August 15 when during that night she passed over the western tip of Cuba and into the Gulf of Mexico. Rocking along on a north-northwestern track at about the same forward speed the then named Hurricane Camille on the afternoon of August 16 stalled for several hours and intensified. During that night she moved forward still on north-northwest course and her winds in the center were estimated at 150 m. p. h.

On Sunday, August 17, an air force plane forced its way into the eye of the storm and found the central barometric pressure to be 26.61 inches. That represents the lowest barometric reading ever recorded on the western hemisphere by an air craft!

Now the eye of the storm crossed the Mississippi Gulf

Coast near Waveland Mississippi at about 10:00 p.m. CDT Sunday evening August 17 and her winds had increased to about 200 m.p.h. She was howling! Dr Robert H. Simpson Chief of the National Hurricane Center in Miami said, "Basis of my experience and observation, I would conservatively estimate the winds ranged at or about 200 miles an hour. This is on the threshold of tornado intensity."

High tides resulted. Tide gauges and records were destroyed. It was necessary to get tide stages from high water marks. Static high tides, were taken at Mean Sea Level in Mobile, Alabama with 7.4 feet; Pascagoula 10 to 11 feet; Biloxi 15.5 to 20 feet; Gulfport 20 feet; Pass Christian 21.4 feet and Bay St. Louis 20 feet. The Army Engineers said waves on top of these static high tides were considerably higher and there has been sufficient evidence to verify the statement.

President of the United States Richard Nixon under Public Law 875, declared on August 18 the state of Mississippi a major disaster area and authorized 26 counties of the 82 to be eligible for Federal assistance under the President's Office of Emergency Preparedness.

George Hastings of the President's office of E. P. was assigned to marshal the federal assistance and recovery effort in the stricken Gulf Coast region. With un-excelled skill and knowhow the recovery program was organized, launched and under way. The U. S. Corps of Army Engineers moved in. Bay St. Louis was under Martial law. There was a strict cur-few. Red Cross, Salvation Army and other humanitarian units moved in. There was a bee hive of activity in restoring communication, clearing debris, bringing in pure water, feeding the thousands, making homes for the homeless, giving inoculations treating the injured. Identifying and burying the dead. Fighting the fires. Evacuating the young and the old and the sick. And with rapid fire, decisions setting up operations to clear debris, restore public utilities, safe-guard health, protect the desolate.

Admittedly the Gulfcoast -- "gold coast" of only hours before had become a desolate center destruction never before known to the area. Ocean going vessels went aground, people died, businesses were damaged or destroyed. Communications Fact: I became Superintendent of Education in January of 2000.

Fact: In October of 2000, we performed a reading grade level assessment of 329 eighth grade students.

Fact: 70% of those 329 were reading at the 7th grade level and lower.

Fact: 33% of those 329 were reading at the 3rd grade level.

Upgrade of Cuevas fire protection district announced

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Insurance Commissioner George Dale recently announced that the Mississippi State Rating Bureau has upgraded the public fire protection facilities of the Cuevas Fire Protection District in Harrison County.

The fire prevention and protection facilities of the Harrison Fire Protection District have been upgraded to a Class 8 fire insurance classification, the Bureau announced recently.

"Upgraded fire classifications mean better quality fire protection in that fire district, as well as lower premiums for the homeowners living there," Dale said. Individual property fire rates are also determined by such factors as specific construction, occupancy, private protection, and exposure from adjacent buildings.

Since 1988, Dale has focused on improving fire protection in rural areas by expanding the number of rural fire departments and enhancing their capabilities to fight fires.

As a result, over 100 new rated rural fire districts with Class 8 or 9 fire protection ratings have been recognized.

The Rural Fire Truck Acquisition Assistance Program (RFTAAP) - part of Dale's Action 2000 plan to enhance Mississippi's rural fire protection capabilities - has distributed $11.2 million in state funds towards the purchase of over 298 new fire trucks by cities and counties whose fire departments primarily serve rural areas.

Since the program's inception, one in five Mississippians receive protection from a fire department that has purchased one or more trucks through RFTAAP.

Working with local governments, the state has provided fire ground training and administrative know-how along with seed monies to improve the quality of fire protection services. The net result of these efforts means that over 1.3 million Mississippians have improved their insurance class since 1995.

Others living adjacent to those areas also have benefited indirectly because they are served by departments with higher rating classes.

"The insurance savings created by the state's $11.2 million public investment easily results in an savings of $12 to $15 million every year for our citizens in homeowners premium costs - not counting the lives and property actually saved by these improved services," Dale said.

Annual Business Expo set Aug. 21

On Thursday, Aug. 21, an event that most all folks should attend is the 6th Annual Business and Industry EXPO from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Hancock County Civic Center.

This year's EXPO will be the largest ever, with the most number of exhibitors.

There will be complimentary food and beverages, door prizes, and many, many give-a-ways.

Admission is only $3 per person and one will receive many times that in return in foods and beverages alone.

And do not forget the drawing for the $1,000 cash prize. That $1,000 sure could come in handy, as I know, having been lucky enough to win a couple years ago. Of course, Jane had to get her share of the stakes too. There are some 95 booths spoken for this year, as the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's event continues to grow each year. There are numerous co-sponsors too for EXPO.

Many folks work hard to bring this event about and the thing that always amazes me is how so many friends meet at the EXPO.

I will be there and I hope to see you too.

For newcomers, the Hancock County Civic Center is located on Longfellow Drive (the road between Highways 90 and 603) next to the Human Services Complex.

As many of you know, there will be a run-off election for both the Democratic and Republican primary elections on Tuesday, Aug. 26.

There are two state offices on the Republican ballot and one House Seat to be settled.

In the Democratic run-off there is a Justice Court Judge seat, a Constable's and County Superintendent of Education nominee to be settled.

The victors in the run-offs then will face opponents in the Nov. 4, general election.

Hopefully all the candidates who are no longer in any races have removed their signs throughout the county.

There are of course many candidates still remaining for general election and several for the primary run-offs.

By the way, we did receive word of several candidates who had some of their signs removed, or destroyed early on prior to the primaries and this is really should not be done if they are properly posted.

It is not fair to candidates to have their campaigning property destroyed.

Enter Eurocopter

Enter Eurocopter, the newest addition to Mississippi's economy, and the latest international company to create jobs in America.

While Mississippi and indeed all of America is losing older, lower skilled, lower paying manufacturing jobs, we stand to gain much more from international companies with good-paying, high-skilled jobs seeking a foothold in the lucrative American market.

Eurocopter's selection of Mississippi as home to their new helicopter components plant is an example of where our economic priority needs to be — not fixated on our past, but focused on the promising jobs of our future.

I was pleased to work with Senator Thad Cochran, Congressman Chip Pickering, Congressman Roger Wicker as well as local officials to help secure Eurocopter's presence in our state. Already, Eurocopter is the world leader in the production of rotary wing aircraft in the U.S. and around the globe, delivering units with military, law enforcement and commercial applications.

The company's decision means the creation of more than 150 quality jobs at its new Golden Triangle Airport site. These jobs are not just any jobs. They are coveted career opportunities that just a few years ago seemed out of reach here in Mississippi. They are the

Not anymore. Mississippi is competing for America's top economic development projects, thanks in part to a solid commitment from your Congressional delegation — a resolution to seek out public dollars and projects that can be a catalyst for private sector job creation.

These are initiatives that only strong federal lawmakers can secure for their states.

For example, thanks in part to $1.25 million in federal funds to help build a new control tower at Golden Triangle Airport, the American Eurocopter project came here.

While the tower will complement the nearby Columbus Air Force Base, allowing the Golden

Fired D'head Water District employees deserve an answer

Who can give an answer? The workers terminated from the Diamondhead water district can not seem to get an answer from anyone. Even the residents of Diamondhead supporting these workers are telling them their calls to the water district are going nowhere.

The board of supervisors are quiet, the Diamondhead water district commission is quiet, and the water district manager is not saying a word.

As this goes on, these workers have bills to pay, children to feed, and families to take care of. Doesn't anyone care? If only one or two of these workers had been terminated, it would be easy to just sweep the whole situation under the rug.

But, seven of nine maintenance workers were terminated with the only explanation given that they are "at will" employees. Doesn't five, or eight, or tens years of service count for anything?

These workers should not be treated as a commodity, to be used up and then replaced. The majority of these workers had no clue they were losing their jobs until they reported for work on Monday.

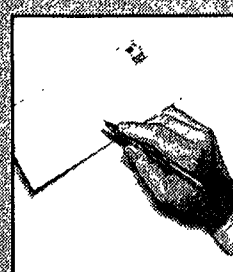

For 10 years of service a worker gets a termination letter, stating that he is "at will"?

The residents of Diamondhead should be outraged at this type of behavior by those in charge of their community.

Letters to the Editor

Our letters policy

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers. Letters must be signed and include address or telephone number. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double-spaced. Only one letter per writer per month. The editor reserves the right to edit or reject letters. Letters of thanks, expressions of appreciation and political endorsements are inappropriate.

The board of supervisors should call for an investigation and not just pass the buck. The other workers in Diamondhead should be very afraid that they are next. This is an injustice of monumental proportions and should be remedied as soon as possible.

Unions are not recognized in this state unless the governing body accepts them, so it is up to the community, elected and appointed officials to stop this injustice. These workers do have the support of all the unions on the Coast and across the state. Union members have contracts that prevent what has happened to these workers.

As these workers have told me, this is not about money, it is about rights and dignity on the job and that should not be too much to ask for.

Civil Servers set Aug. 23 in BSL

Court St. Station will host Civil Servers, a benefit featuring celebrity waiters, for Annabelle's Home, a primate sanctuary in Kiln that serves as a home for monkeys that are endangered species.

If you've ever wanted the Bay St. Louis police chief to bring you a glass of wine or your councilman to bring you a piece of cheesecake, here's your chance. Don't forget to tip them well, because all the gratuities go to Annabelle's Home.

This event will take place Aug. 23 from 6 to 10 p.m.

Barbara Heally, also known as the "Monkey Lady," has been rescuing and rehabilitating primates for many years. Many of these animals have been abused and starved. Their only hope for a decent life is a place like Annabelle's Home.

Because there are not many places like the sanctuary, many of these primates have been destroyed.

The sanctuary has been kept a secret to protect the animals. The monkeys are usually in a delicate condition when they get to the home, and sightseers could cause them more stress.

Annabelle's Home was named for a snub tail Makak who was rescued by Heally from a roadside circus. She had been badly mistreated and was to the point of death. Annabelle was cared for and brought back to health.

She lived the remaining years of her life with the Heally family. After her death, the sanctuary was named in her memory because her story embodies the goal the sanctuary strives for.

For reservations, call 228-467-3636. Court St. Station is located at 200 South Beach Blvd. in Bay St. Louis.

The Great Books Discussion Group schedules meeting Aug. 20 at library

Group to discuss 'A Marriage Proposal' in Seal Meeting Room

Looking for a book club? Like to read? And like to discuss what you read with other people?

On Wednesday, Aug. 20, at 7 p.m., the Great Books discussion group will discuss "A Marriage Proposal" by Anton Chekhov. The meeting will be held in the Seal Meeting Room of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

These selections are from the current volume, "24 Favorite One Act Plays." Several copies are available for checkout at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

The Great Books discussion group, sponsored by the Hancock County Library System, has been meeting and discussing books since March 1990. During that time, they read more than 345 titles from great books (Plato, Hobbes, Locke deTocqueville), Mississippi fiction, play readings and 20 philosophical questions. The group meets every other Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The Great Books Foundation was established in 1947 by University of Chicago Chancellor Robert Manyard Hutchins. Its mission is to provide people of all ages, backgrounds and walks of life with the opportunity to read, discuss and learn from outstanding works of literature.

Today, more than 20,000 adults are members of Great Books discussion groups, and nearly one million students participate in Junior Great Books groups for grades kindergarten through 12.

Anyone is welcome to attend the meetings. The only requirement is that you read the selection before the meeting. For information, call Sheila Cork at 467-5282.

Triangle Airport to be a backup facility for Air Force training, it also will benefit American Eurocopter, possibly even allowing the company to expand its Mississippi operation.

As chairman of the Senate's Aviation Subcommittee I've made improving Mississippi's airports a priority, not just to maintain their presence, but so they can be vibrant, modern public works serving both individuals and businesses. Like water service, roads, bridges, and any other kind of taxpayer financed infrastructure, airports and transportation facilities as a whole can serve more than just their obvious purpose. In this case, Eurocopter was drawn to Golden Triangle Airport because of a good airport and the promise of a better airport. Citizens of the Columbus, Starkville and West Point area who've invested in their local infrastructure will now get hundreds of jobs as a partial return on their local airport investment.

I also am working with other officials throughout the state on additional airport upgrades — improvements that could lead to more Eurocopter-style projects, if we remain focused. In just the last few weeks I was pleased to announce more than $10 million for airport upgrades in Gulfport/Biloxi and Jackson, where airport authorities are poised to significantly enhance local airport terminals.

Hattiesburg/Laurel, Meridian, Tupelo, Greenville, Tunica and Olive Branch each have significant airport and transportation facilities that can lead to enhanced passenger service and local job creation if we fully realize their potential.

Eurocopter represents more than a helicopter components operation, but also what can be a real future for Mississippi's economy. It is a future based on good, high-paying, skilled jobs brought to us by world renowned companies attracted by our commitment to good public works, like airports and other transportation facilities. It is a future we can grasp soon if we resist to much lamenting over the old economy of our past, and focused on the promising new jobs that can be the cornerstone of our new economy and a better future for all Mississippians.

DMR to boost productivity of oysters through cultch Plant

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR) will be distributing about 7,500 cubic yards of cultch material (oyster shells or other suitable material that provides a clean surface for oyster larvae to attach) on three sites near the mouth of the Bay of St. Louis, beginning the week of August 18, 2003. The sites were selected following an on-site investigation of bottom type and other environmental factors.

The three cultch plant sites include a 4.5-acre tonging reef, a 14-acre tonging reef and a 65-acre dredging reef in Hancock County. This project is funded by the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality through the Mississippi Coastal Impact Assistance Program (CIAP). CIAP is a federally sponsored program that provides money for the state and counties to address statewide coastal issues.

"Since 1997, the DMR has planted over 900 acres of oyster reefs in the Mississippi Sound," said Dale Diaz, Shellfish Program Coordinator. "Cultch plants are one of the best methods we have of helping to ensure the continued success of the oyster fishery."

Additional oyster cultch plants are being planned for next year. Cultch plants are intended to enhance oyster productivity and increase fishing opportunities in south Mississippi through the continued development of existing reefs and the creation of additional reefs.

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the State by managing all marine life, public trust wetlands, adjacent uplands and waterfront areas to provide for the optimal commercial, recreational, educational and economic uses of these resources consistent with environmental concerns and social changes. ## Perniciaro's cause of death determined

ECHO STAFF REPORT

Frank Perniciaro, former attendance officer for both the Hancock County and Bay St. Louis-Waveland school districts, died Friday, Aug. 8, at Jackson.

Perniciaro, 43, had been sentenced in April to one year in prison and two years probation after pleading guilty to charges of possession of child pornography.

He was serving the time in prison at the time of his death last week. The Mississippi Department of Corrections has still not released an official statement, but reports indicate he apparently died of natural causes.

MDOC on Friday reported that "a provisional autopsy ... indicates that Perniciaro ... died of pulmonary saddle embolus.

Georgia Elaine Van

September 27, 1935 - August 9, 2003

"Queen of Karaoke" Gives Final Performance

By James Welsh

The Mississippi Coast lost one of its most storied and iconoclastic characters August 9 when Georgia Elaine Van -- better known as "Miss Georgia, the Queen of Karaoke" -- died at her home in Waveland. She was 67.

Through the years, Miss Georgia had become known for her musical performances and fanciful outfits when she appeared during Karaoke nights at the Good Life Lounge on South Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis. Often clad in mismatched short-shorts and halter-top, sunglasses and a queenly plastic tiara, she commanded the Karaoke stage wielding a wide repertoire of rock, country, and old standard tunes.

On stage, Miss Georgia would preen and sing. The performance was divine; the singing high and off-key. She was also known for her dramatic entrances when she was introduced to the crowd and would sweep across the dance floor on her way to the Good Life stage.

Miss Georgia seldom missed Karaoke nights at the Good Life on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. When not singing, she would sit at the end of the bar and await her next turn, smoking and drinking coffee or juice. She was notorious for her rancor toward other singers, often holding her hands over her ears and grimacing when fellow Karaoke enthusiasts took the stage.

A widow with limited means and no children, she took her queenly title seriously and made Karaoke her life. On weekdays, she could often be seen at the McDonald's restaurant in Waveland, sitting in a back booth of the smoking section, talking to herself and laboriously compiling long lists of new songs to try.

In recent years, Miss Georgia had carried cassette tapes of her performances and given them away, along with unsolicited autographs, to select patrons of the Good Life.

Her fame spread along with the popularity of Karaoke on the Coast. Often, tourists from around the country who had heard of her performances would come to the Good Life just to see the Queen of Karaoke.

"She was known far and wide," says Sherry Schwabacher, who has run Karaoke at the Good Life for many years with her husband, Huey Kenmar. "People really wanted to come and see this woman who was such a character, who would perform with all her heart."

Miss Georgia's Karaoke fame became full blown last year when she was invited to sing at the grand opening of the Voodoo Room, a new lounge at Grand Casino Gulfport.

The day of her death, Miss Georgia had checked out of Hancock Medical Center and gone home. A victim of diabetes and congestive heart failure, she was a frequent visitor to the hospital. She apparently died alone and was found by a friend.

Despite her questionable vocal talents and frequently expressed disdain for her contemporaries, Miss Georgia found herself readily accepted as a social fixture in Bay St. Louis, a town chock-full of local characters and artists of various stripes.

"I'm an artist, but she was the real thing," said local painter and photographer Stella Williams, who painted a portrait of Miss Georgia that now hangs in the Good Life. "She had her ups and downs, but she was genuine. She was herself."

Williams and others are soliciting donations for a Miss Georgia Memorial Fund opened at Hancock Bank. They hope to use the proceeds to erect some type of monument for her near Main Street and South Beach Boulevard in Old Town. "That's the way she always came down to Karaoke," Williams said. "That was her route."

Miss Georgia was born at Charity Hospital in New Orleans on Sept. 27, 1935 to Maggie Williams and Fern Wood Van, a blacksmith from Wesson, MS. In 1955, she was married in New Orleans to Henry Myers Jr., who was employed at the time as a city sanitation worker. The couple lived on North Rampart Street and later bought a home in Bay St. Louis.

Friends said Myers was retired from a military career when he died and was buried at the Veterans Administration Cemetery in Biloxi. Although plans are still in the making, Williams said she and other friends hope to see Miss Georgia buried next to her late husband.

She is survived by Michael and Roxana Moore, a Bay St. Louis couple who had been her unofficially adopted extended family over the past 25 years. Michael Moore said Miss Georgia was extremely close to their children, Abry Liebig, Roscoe Liebig, Christopher Moore, and Suzanne Moore.

"She used to come over here with her Karaoke machine and her tapes and those fancy clothes and all," Moore said. "I treated her almost like my godmother and my children did, too."

In recent years, Miss Georgia had dabbled at painting and writing poetry. Some of her hand-scrawled poems, found by friends among her personal effects after she died, showed another side to the crusty old singer. One of them read:

"It takes the rain
 To make the flowers grow
 To give to the one you love,
 Like echoes of a dove
 Come down from above."

A memorial Karaoke was held for Miss Georgia on Thursday at the Good Life.

Schwabacher said the event was an appropriate swan song for the aged Queen of Karaoke, who spent her final poverty-stricken years largely estranged from society.

"She was very angry and cut off from the world," Schwabacher said. "But when she was on that stage, she was the star. Then she let go of all that anger and pain, and finally moved on."

were all but cut-off.

Processing plant damages were estimated at $8,000,000 loss. Off-shore drilling took a licking, 4,000 workers were without jobs in the industry alone, agriculture losses and dairy farmer losses were massive. Orchards of timber, pecan and tung suffered. Tourist industry was with an estimated $31,638,612 loss. Children were evacuated. 139 persons were known dead. Many unidentified or unaccounted for. 66,000 families suffered loss of property as reported to the Red Cross. 4,000,000 pounds of USDA foods were supplied. 14,000 families registered for assistance with the Red Cross. An estimated 110,000 insurance claims are anticipated! Loss of personal and corporate tax to the general fund for the balance of 1969 estimated at $3,450,000. Not to mention sales tax losses, alcoholic beverage taxes, etc.

From Gulfport headquarters, George Hastings spread his recovery team to satellite office in hard hit Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian, and Biloxi. All federal assistance force came at the request of Mississippi's Governor John Bell Williams. On-the-scene teams plan to be in the area for at least a year to supervise federal efforts, administer expenditure of millions of recovery-fund dollars,

Camille -- 1969

On August 17th, we were advised to seek shelter,
For Camille was coming with very bad weather.
But some didn't heed, they thought their homes
were sufficient,
To weather the storm, which was so indifferent.
So Camille took the Gulf Coast between its mighty jaws,
Then tore it apart with its strong black claws.
It left a beaten path on the beautiful Gulf Coast,
And destroyed the thing that we all loved most.
Our homes and businesses, they were no more.
It left debris piled high along the shore.
But reaching out for God's helping hand,
He gave us courage and strenght to clean our land.
So now we thank our neighbors, who came from far and near.

May God bless them all,
They were so dear.

Today we remember them in our prayer,
Because this hurricane was a real nightmare.
There were many who didn't survive.
Today, we thank God that we are alive.

restore and repair facilities (Public Law 81-875) and Marshall efforts of more than 15 federal agencies in 33 government programs. Three weeks following Camille Bay St. Louis was well-off by comparison.

Most of the streets were clear. Over 50 percent of the phone service was installed. For the most part private well drinking water had been tested and approved. Business places -- some of them -- were in operation and prices were surprisingly below normal. For instance Jitney Jungle sold bread for 10 cents a loaf and chicken at 29 a pound. Other stores and Restaurants made similar attempts to help customers.

Profiteering was rare and scorned. Damaged goods were sold to salvage houses. The people bought first-class merchandise and knew it. Dealers were honest about used cars -- T. V.'s and other salvaged merchandise. School plans went forward.

There were endless meetings - planning re-construction, planning a better town, planning a model community -- planning a way to assist each other and thereby assist themselves. An attitude of courage, fortitude, and determination was order of the day. Day - afterday a united community with shoulder-to-the-wheel pushed forward through muck and stinch and sweat to rebuild a town with a slogan that nobody knows who originated: Let's Build Bay St. Louis -- and Build it Better." American flags were never so cherished. Lives never held in more reverence.

National Coast Week 2003

THE SEA COAST ECHO

In 2002 the Coastal States Organization started the Living on the Edge: America's Coastal Campaign project to increase national consciousness of coastal issues, encourage dialogue about coastal issues on the local level, and build networks between organizations that care about coastal issues. The first big project of Living on the Edge is recreating the "national" identity of National Coastweek.

National Coastweek 2003 is being coordinated by the Coastal States Organization in conjunction with NOAA's National Ocean Service, state Coastweek and Coast Day observances and in partnership with a variety of federal government agencies and national coastal and ocean organizations. National Coastweek 2003 will be held September 20-27, starting with the Ocean Conservancy's International Coastal Cleanup, and culminating with National Estuaries Day. It is an opportunity to celebrate the vibrancy of our coastal communities and beauty of our coastal resources. From clean-ups to nature walks to boating events, National Coastweek provides an ocean of opportunity to join other coastal enthusiasts to explore life on the edge? where land meets water and fragile ecosystems hang in the balance. Are their Coastweek activities in your area? To add them to our searchable database, send activity information to info@living-edge.org. ## Talk 'About Un Chien Andalou

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Da Beach House invites you to this special presentation this coming Thursday, August 21 at 7 p.m. to preview the screening of the famous surrealist short film by Luis Buñuel and Salvador Dali.

This film, whose title translates as "An Andalusian Dog" - though there is neither a dog nor an Andalusian in it - was based on Buñuel's and Dali's dreams, and over the years has lost none of its power to astonish.

It will be introduced and discussed by Gilbert Perez, who is professor of film studies at Sarah Lawrence College near New York City. He is a frequent contributor to the London Review of Books and film critic for The Yale Review.

His book The Material Ghost came out in 1998 and was selected by Choice magazine as an Outstanding Academic Book of the year. He is at work on a new book, Rhetoric of Film, a study of the ways that movies influence their audiences. Un Chien Andalou has never left the audience cold.

For additional information on this and other special presentations at Da Beach House, please call 467-9477.

MCT, which produces scores in three areas -- reading, language, and mathematics.

Students in grades 4 and 7 take the Mississippi Writing Assessment, which is aligned with the Mississippi Language Arts Framework and assesses students' ability to produce writing that reflects increasing proficiency.

The Mississippi SATP program is typically administered to high school students in Algebra I, Biology I, U.S. History from 1877 and English II courses. Entering ninth graders in 2002-03 are the first students required to pass all four tests for graduation.

Students in grade 6 take the Terra Nova, a commercial achievement test that compares the performance of students in Mississippi to students nationwide. The test produces scores in three content areas: reading, language and mathematics.

On the MCT, students are ranked the subject areas by one of four designations: Minimal, basic, proficient or advanced.

The ultimate goal under the federal No Child Left Behind Law is to have all students scoring as proficient or above in all subject areas.

Debbie Cox, assistant superintendent for the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Schools, attributed the district's students' high scores to a lot of hard work by both the students and faculty, and to some administrative changes, as well.

"We've aligned our curriculum," Cox said, which means that "we looked at what we are teaching in the classroom and made sure it is aligned to what we're testing, and it should be."

"Another thing we focused on was professional development for our teachers."

"And," district Superintendent Dr. Kim Stasny said, "we focused on those students who in the past two years have scored in the basic and minimal categories. There are tons of people in each school who look at ways to bring that child's skill level up to proficient and beyond."

"The most gains that we recognized for this year was in the area of second-grade math, where we made a net gain of 35 points over the previous year's scores. ... We scored above average in all areas, and that's a first for the district."

Overall rankings for all grade levels performing at proficient or above in the Bay-Waveland district are:

• Algebra, 85.5 percent, compared to the statewide average 81.9 percent.

• History, 96.2 percent, compared to the state's 94.3 percent.

• Biology, 92.5 percent; state, 86.5 percent.

• English, multiple choice, 77.9 percent; state, 78.4 percent; English narrative, 83 percent; state, 92.2 percent.

Stasny said the district would be focusing a great deal of attention in the next school year on improving student performance in the language arts.

Students in the Hancock County and Pass Christian school districts performed exceedingly well in state testing.

Hancock County's district scores were:

• Algebra, 92.1.
• History, 95.1.
• Biology, 92.2

• English, multiple choice, 85.4.

• English, narrative, 98.

Pass Christian's scores:

• Algebra, 94.2.
• History, 99.1.
• Biology, 98.6.

• English, multiple choice, 87.6.

• English narrative, 95.5.

Complete scores by district and by grade level are available on the MDE's website, www.mde.k12.ms.us.

Former Marine making America remember with tour

Sitting in his wheelchair, Marine dress blues, with no legs, he looks distinguished, authoritative. He is a man sent with a message for our times.

He speaks with thunder in his voice. His story is powerfully graphic, revealing, and rings with reality about a country and a national heritage that many Americans have forgotten.

His name is Tim Lee. He is a former Marine Corps Sergeant and Purple Heart recipient from the Vietnam conflict. A violent land mine explosion in 1971 placed him in a wheelchair, but also made him one of the most listened to people in America. He is recognized across the nation as one of the most exciting Evangelists and Christian Statesmen of our generation. He shares a personal testimony that has impacted the lives of United States Senators and Congressmen, Governors and state and local officials. He has won the acclaim of thousands of American citizens, and the respect of the strongest and noblest of men and women who have heard his unique delivery. His remarks and conclusions on the topics he addresses are controversial and explosive, but they present strong biblical truth and patriotic ideals in a way that captivates his audiences.

An encounter with Tim Lee will long be remembered. He is a man with answers for this generation, and one who speaks from the heart.

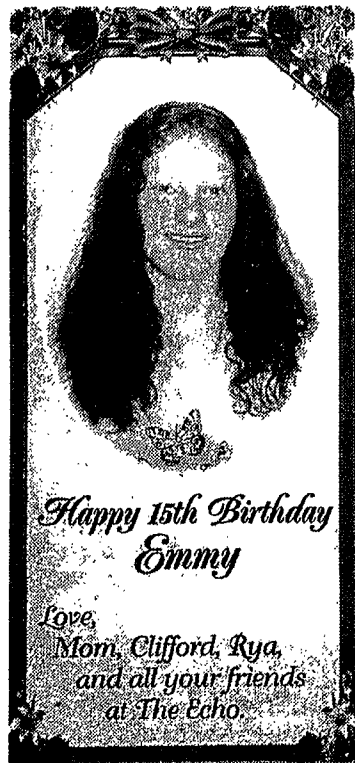

The public is invited to hear Tim Lee in person at the Lakeshore Baptist Church, August 24-27. Sunday Morning August 24 at 10:30 am and Sunday-Wednesday August 24-27 at 6:30 pm each evening.

Gasoline expected to er this su oil prices a unknown

"A lot oil prices, stubbornly said Neil C mist f Departme Energy

BUSINESS NEWS

Gasoline prices keep going up

BY BARBARA POWELL
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gasoline prices aren't expected to rise much higher this summer, but crude oil prices and supply remain unknown factors.

"A lot depends on crude oil prices, and they've been stubbornly high for a while," said Neil Gamson, an economist for the U.S. Department of Energy's Energy Information

Administration. "But the driving season after Labor Day is considered over, and demand goes down. That should ease the pressure on price."

U.S. inventories remain tight, and crude-oil prices have hovered around $32 a barrel. Every $1 increase in barrel price translates into a 2.4 cents-a-gallon increase in retail gas prices.

For now, motorists have seen prices at the pump rise steadily for the past five weeks. "Pump prices, which have moved up some lately, are expected to remain close to current levels over the next two months, then begin to decline as the driving seasons ends," according to the EIA short-term energy outlook.

The national average price for regular gasoline is $1.57, up five cents from last month, according to the EIA.

The EIA doesn't give gas prices for Mississippi. But according to AAA's web site, the average price in Mississippi for self-service gas as of Friday was $1.47, five cents higher than a month ago.

The increase has been even sharper in some individual markets. Last week, temporary shutdowns at some refineries cause gas prices to rise as much as 18 cents overnight at some stations in the St. Louis area, according to AAA Missouri.

Closer to home, Obie's Chevron in Clinton said rising wholesale prices have caused its pump prices to rise as much as 12 cents in three weeks.

A gallon of regular unleaded at Obie's was priced at $1.499 Monday. Assistant Manager E.C. Chapman said the wholesale price jumped six cents a gallon last Friday.

"We just have to wait and see on each load, and then adjust our (retail) prices," said Chapman, whose station gets twice-weekly wholesale deliveries.

The good news for drivers is that while gas prices are up about 14 cents over last year, they're still far below the records set in March when average gas prices reached $1.63 a gallon statewide and $1.73 nationwide.

Long-term, the EIA projects that in 2004 the annual average pump price nationwide will be $1.43 per gallon, down near 10 cents from the projected 2003 average.

Hancock drops opener, Bay wins, OLA splits in volleyball

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

The Hancock Lady Hawks (0-1) volleyball team opened the 2003 season with a 2-0 loss to the Gulfport Lady Admirals in Gulfport on Thursday, August 14.

Gulfport jumped out to an early 5-1 lead in the first set and did not relinquish the lead, winning 15-7. The Lady Admirals used solid front line play to defeat the Lady Hawks. In the second set, the Lady Hawks were down at one point 13-5. However, the Lady Hawks made a strong comeback with great service points from Tiffany Appel and strong front line play to make the score 13-10. The Lady Admirals got game point two possessions later and the final score of the set was 15-12.

Hancock head coach Denise Ladner stated, "Gulfport had a height advantage on us. We have some strong servers in Tiffany Appel and Courtney Vincent but we need to work on our consistency with the service points. We are a young team with only two seniors. The majority of our team are juniors and sophomores. Another facet of our game that we are working on is our blocking ability."

In the junior varsity game, Katrina Zahniser tallied 14 service points as Hancock won 2-1. The scores of the sets were 8-15, 15-10, and 15-8. The JV record stands at 1-0 on the young season.

In other action on Thursday night, the Bay

High Lady Tigers defeated the Lady Gators of Gautier 2-1 on the road. The scores of the sets were 15-7, 13-15, and 15-4. Tori Lansaw was the high scorer for the Lady Tigers with 15 points while Tamara Reed added 9 points in the win. The Lady Tigers evened their season record at 1-1 with the win. The junior varsity team lost 9-15 and 9-15 to fall to 1-1 on the season.

As reported on Thursday, the Lady Tigers dropped their opening match of 2003 with St. Martin 2-1 at home Tuesday, August 12. The junior varsity Lady Tigers won their opening match against the Lady Yellow Jackets on Tuesday.

The Lady Tigers will tangle with the Lady Hawks in Kiln on Tuesday, August 19.

The defending state champion OLA Crescents split a pair of games in the opening week of high school volleyball action. On Tuesday, August 12, the Crescents traveled to Ocean Springs for a rematch of the state playoffs the last two seasons.

The Crescents defeated the Lady Greyhounds 15-8 and 15-10 to sweep the match and start the season 1-0. Rachel Cranford had 9 points and 19 assists in the match while Kaylee Schmitt had 9 points and 8 kills. Other top performances came from Rachel Cuevas, Jordan Fisher, and Annie Giardino who combined for 11 kills and 9 points.

The junior varsity squad also swept Ocean Springs 15-10 and 15-2. Jaimie Reisch had 7 points followed by Amanda Meyers with 6 points.

On Thursday, August 14, the Long Beach Lady Bearcats did something no other team in Mississippi has done in over a year - beat OLA on a volleyball court. Long Beach defeated OLA 9-15, 17-15, 4-15 and dropped them to 1-1 on the young season.

Rachel Cranford was top scorer for OLA with 11 points and 15 assists followed by Jordan Fisher and Annie Giardino with 5 points each. Rachel Cuevas added 6 kills in the loss.

The junior varsity was also defeated 8-15 and 13-15 in the early match. Jaimie Reisch scored 7 points for the Crescents while Lakasia Duckworth and Shelly Reboul each added 5 points.

OLA played in the Madison Central tournament on Saturday and will be on the road on Tuesday, August 19 at Gulfport. The first home game for OLA will be on Thursday, August 21.

DMR creates new inshore fishing reef

The Department of Marine Resources (DMR) deployed about 100 cubic yards of oyster shells, to be used as reef material, to create a new inshore fishing reef at the end of Fountain Pier in D'Iberville.

This brings the total number of inshore reefs in the three Coast counties to 45. The Inshore reefs are located at the end of piers, near boat ramps and inshore areas where fishermen in small boats, wade fishermen and pier fishermen can take advantage of the fish that inhabit these reefs.

"This inshore reef will enhance fishing opportunities for the fishermen of Mississippi," said DMR marine fisheries biologist, Kerwin Cuevas. The inshore reefs are deployed at strategic times of the year where optimum oyster spat (larvae) will settle for future growth of the reef.

The GPS locations of these reefs are posted on the DMR Web site at www.dmr.state.ms.us. For more information, contact the DMR at (228) 374-5000.

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the State by managing all marine life, public trust wetlands, adjacent uplands and waterfront areas to provide for the optimal commercial, recreational, educational and economic uses of these resources consistent with environmental concerns and social changes. Visit: the DMR online at www.dmr.state.ms.us

NOAA grant to help clean up crab traps

U.S. Rep Gene Taylor has announced that the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) has awarded the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission of Ocean Springs with a $192,500 grant. This money will be used to remove derelict crab traps in the Gulf of Mexico region.

"Lost or abandoned crab traps continue to catch and hold wildlife for years until they are recovered. They pose a hazard to conservation efforts in the area and litter our precious aquatic habitat," said Taylor. "The Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission does a great job. Their staff and volunteers will help the public get a better understanding of how to prevent trap losses."

The grant is awarded under the Community-based Restoration Program of NOAA. The contact for the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission is Virginia Herring 601-875-5912

What's Your Problem?

Problem solved

Hats off to the city of Bay St. Louis employees, particularly Jimmy Loiacano and his crew. Last week at this time, tree limbs completely blocked the sidewalk and extended into the street. Grass, vines and weeds had claimed their place where people once walked. And at the end of the same, short street, plants and bushes again blocked the sidewalk, preventing it's use. We ran a picture of the situation for our new feature, printed here again at right, and Jimmy and crew had the problem solved by early the very next morning. Above, employees work to remove the hanging branches that impeded the sidewalk. So what's your problem? Could it be solved by making it the object of public attention? Call us at The Sea Coast Echo, 467-5473; write us a letter at P.O. Box 2009, Bay St. Louis, 39521; or e-mail us at gbelcher@seacoastecho.com.

All-new Waveland Library officially opens its doors to the public in lavish ceremony

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER

The turnout was tremendous at the ribbon cutting and celebration for the re-opening of the Waveland Branch of the Hancock County Library on Coleman Ave. Scores of well wishers packed the new facility to escape sweltering outdoor temperatures, moving most of the festivities indoors. The event coincided with the monthly Chamber Business after Hours, sponsored by the City of Waveland, the Exchange Club, and the Library Foundation.

The dedication ceremony was an emotional event in which Library Director Prima Plauche thanked the entire community for making the project possible; Mayor Tommy Longo expressed his, and the community's pride in the facility and reminded attendees of the great strides that the city has made in restoring the Library and Civic Center complex; Library Board of Trustees Chairman Mary Sinders was near tears as she thanked all those responsible for making the project possible; Library Advisory Board Chairman Nancy Gex Artigues reminded attendees of the need for their continued support and Mississippi Library Commission Executive Director Sharman Smith revealed that her love of reading began in a tiny office sized library room in her home town.

The new 6,000 square foot facility includes a reading area, full service, book and media collection, a special children's library and a multipurpose community meeting room with a separate entrance.

The electronic reference center connects residents to the headquarters library for automated resources, as well as state and national electronic online services.

The facility is a giant step into the future for the city where library service began in 1960, with a step van bookmobile borrowed from the Library Commission that was parked in front of City Hall two afternoons a week.

The expansion was financed by a combination local, state, and federal funds, bringing the total cost for the project to $594,600.

Opening celebrations continued on Saturday with a Family Day. Festivities included a magic show, face painting, performing clowns, and paper hat making. Book bags, stickers and balloons were handed out to children.

Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo was one of the featured speakers at the ribbon cutting and celebration at the Waveland Branch of the Hancock County Public Library on Thursday. Also pictured are library Director Prima Plauche and members of American Legion Post 77.

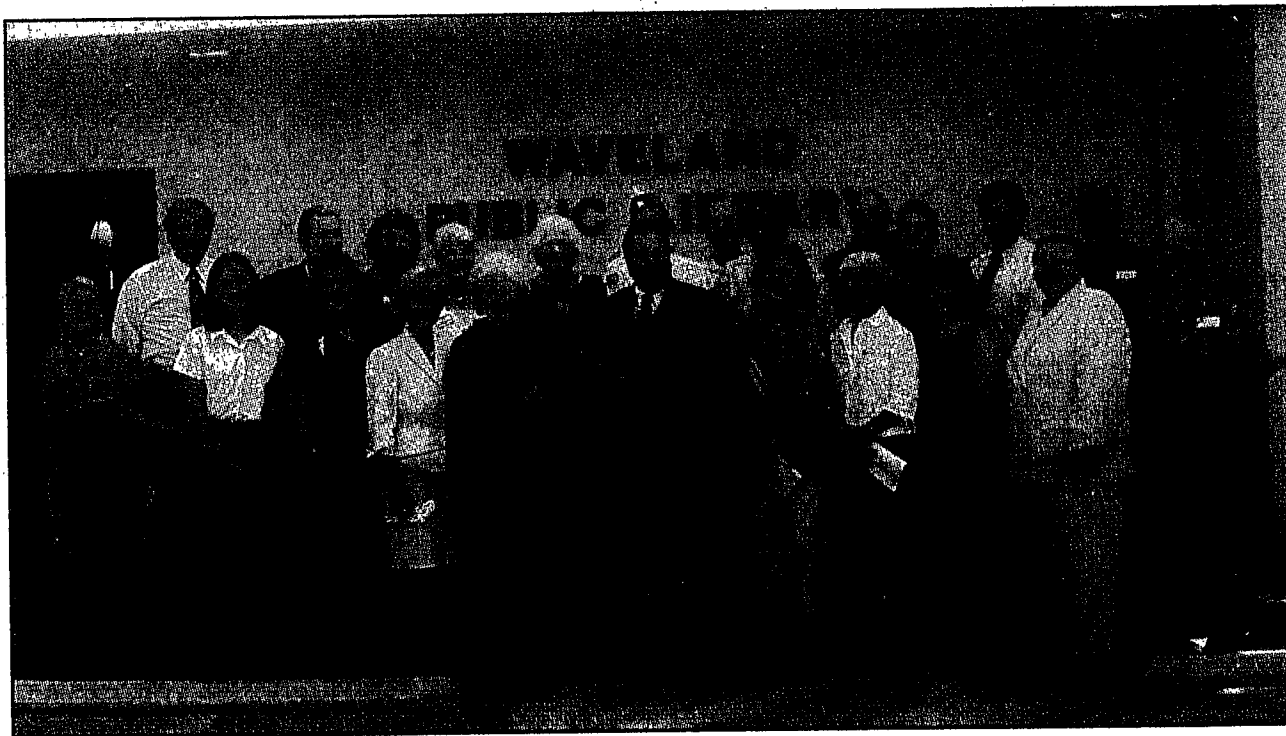

Chairman of the Waveland Public Library Advisory Board Nancy Gex Artigues reminded attendees of the importance of continued support for the library.

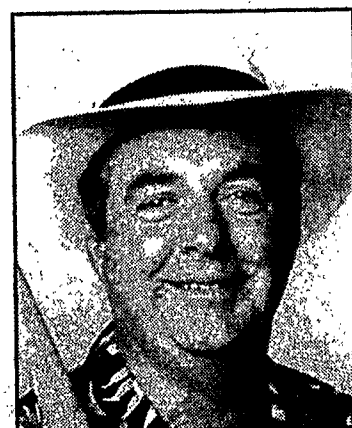

Mississippi Library Commission Executive Director Sharman Smith was among those offering their support for the expansion at the Waveland Library Branch on Coleman Avenue.

Scores of people turned out for the ribbon cutting and opening celebration on the newly renovated Waveland Branch of the Hancock County Public Library. The event was held in conjunction with the Chamber Business After Hours.

Tough Veronics deserve a prominent garden spot

Norman Winter

SOUTHERN GARDENING

BY NORMAN WINTER
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi Research & Extension Center

Occasionally I am guilty of pronouncing a plant a failure without giving it a second year or a better garden location. I preach otherwise, but it still happens. Probably you would admit to making this mistake, too.

One plant that has changed my mind completely over the past few years is the Veronica. I see these beautiful snapdragon relatives performing well not only in Mississippi but throughout the South. I realize this plant is a lot tougher than I had previously thought.

The Veronica is still a rare plant in the Southern garden. It is perennial from zones 4 through 8 and marginal in zone 9. Nurseries and garden centers are offering more selections. The impetus for this increase in popularity may have been the selection of Sunny Border Blue as the Perennial Plant of the Year in 1993.

Veronics are showy in the garden with tall spikes of flowers in blue, pink, white and lilac shades. They reach about 2 feet in height. They are winter-tough and perform extremely well in the torrid South, blooming for months when deadheaded. Deadheading is one of the real essentials to stimulate growth and more blooms, and to keep the plant tidy.

Best blooming is in full sun, although the Veronica will tolerate some afternoon shade. Well-drained soil is critical, especially to encourage a return. Plant on raised beds or amend heavy soil with the addition of compost or humus. While preparing the soil, incorporate two pounds of a slow release 12-6-6-fertilizer per 100 square feet of bed space.

Space the plants 12 to 24 inches apart, depending on variety. Plant at the same depth they are growing in the container. Give supplemental water during long

During the six month course, Esher received fundamental training in several technical fields related to the nuclear power program.

With this acquired knowledge, Esher is prepared to operate a reactor on a nuclear powered submarine or aircraft carrier, ensuring the availability of propulsion and power.

He is a graduate of Tulane University with a BS degree in Chemical Engineering. Esher is the son of Robert and Kathie Esher of Waveland.

Navy Midshipman Andrea K. White, daughter of Brenda K. and John O. White of Diamondhead, Miss., was recently inducted into the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., and will begin six weeks of Plebe Summer at the academy.

This demanding, fast-paced orientation begins four years of preparation for commissioning as Naval or Marine Corps officers. During Plebe Summer, White will learn basic skills in seamanship, navigation, infantry drill, sailing and marksmanship. White will also receive instruction and indoctrination on the Brigade of Midshipmen's Honor Concept. At the end of Plebe Summer, White will be ready to join the rest of the brigade when the academic year gets underway this fall.

Civilian Michael W. Enloe, son of Amy L. and James A. Enloe of Diamondhead, Miss., recently participated in the U.S. Naval Academy's week-long summer seminar program in Annapolis, Md.

During the program, Enloe was introduced to academy life through a regimen of academics, physical training, intramural sports, sailing and seamanship, as well as leadership training and social activities.

The summer seminar program was designed by the U.S. Naval Academy's office of admissions to give students a taste of the challenges and benefits of a Naval Academy education.

Enloe is currently attending St. Stanislaus College Preparatory School.

Air Force Lt. Col. Patrick Barnes has been decorated with the Defense Meritorious Service Medal.

The medal is awarded to individuals for non-combat meritorious achievement or service that is incontestably exceptional and of a magnitude that clearly places them above their peers.

Recipients are assigned to or have served with numerous joint activities in the Department of Defense, joint chiefs of staff, joint, specified and allied commands, military agencies, and other joint activities as designated by the secretary of defense.

This is his second award of the medal, which he earned for meritorious service during his three year assignment as the senior action officer for the forward deployed Joint Headquarters, U.S. European Command (EUCOM) in Stuttgart-Vaihingen, Germany. The Joint Headquarters has responsibility for leading and controlling all U.S. forces operating in a 93 country area of operations.

He is the son of Jesse and Jeanell Barnes of Pass Christian.

The lieutenant colonel graduated in 1979 from Pass Christian High School, and received a bachelor's degree in 1983 from the University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg. In 1994, he earned a master's degree from Troy State University, Ala.

dry periods. Cut back hard to basal foliage after the Veronica has completed its bloom cycle in the fall. Add a layer of mulch for winter protection.

Divide every three to four years in the early spring when growth has resumed. Feed in the spring with a light application of fertilizer with the emergence of growth and every six to eight weeks through September.

The Veronica looks like the original cottage garden plant. Combine with white picket fences and antique roses. Plant boldly, as spot planting doesn't show off the true beauty of the plant. Use with companions like purple coneflower, Shasta daisies or with complementary Indian Summer or Goldsturm rudbeckia.

More and more choices are showing up at garden centers each spring such as the Veronica. spicata varieties Blue Bouquet and Blue Spires (lavender-blue), Lil Corinna (light blue) and V. spicata hybrid Sunny Border Blue (most heat tolerant, deep blue). These are all good choices. Try also the V. longiflora selections Blauriessen (dark blue), Rosalinde (lilac-pink) and Schneeriesen (white).

It would be surprising if garden centers had Veronicas left for sale this time of the year, so let this serve as a notice for next spring. It may be a while before selections other than Sunny Border Blue show up in your town, but it certainly won't hurt to ask.

Don't be a quick judge and jury like I was -- give Veronicas a try and you may also be dazzled by their beauty.

Schools to Careers

Hancock County Librarian Interns at PRCC

During her internship at Pearl River Community College's Research Administration/Grant Proposal Development Department this summer, Hancock North Central Elementary School Librarian Alene Brown (center) received some tips on computer software from secretary Nita Travis (right) and program assistant Twila Crabtree. Brown was a participant in this summer's Gulf Coast School-to-Careers Consortium Internship for Educators. Teachers spend approximately two to four weeks as interns in order to gain an understanding of the day-to-day operations of businesses. Teachers will take what they learn back to the classroom to show students how their studies in the classroom apply to real life. Brown will incorporate what she has learned about organization, computers, and grant writing into the library at Hancock North Central Elementary.

Diverse group of students prepare for study of hydrographic science

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The hydrographic science program at The University of Southern Mississippi's Stennis Space Center site continues to break new ground.

A more diverse student population continues to be drawn to the acclaimed hydrographic science master's program as a mixture of students from the military, foreign militaries, government agencies, and the private sector gather for the start of classes on Aug. 18.

Students from Canada, Turkey and Mexico will join students from various organizations within the United States to begin the intensive one-year master's degree program in hydrography -- the science of charting seas, lakes, rivers, and other bodies of water.

"The class of 2004 will present an exciting mix of students with varying degrees of expertise in the field," said David Dodd, coordinator of the hydrographic science program at Southern Miss.

The class of 2004 also marks the admission of the first students to enter the program without a sponsoring organization. One American and two Canadians plan to enter the program to pursue a career in hydrography.

Dan Wright, an Alaska native, is excited to join the hydrographic science class of 2004.

"My interest in hydrography comes from a lifelong fascination with explorers and their scientific work," Wright said. "I have also been following advances in the science and technology of hydrography over the last 10 years, and it appears to be one of the fastest emerging fields in marine science."

Wright said the location of the Southern Miss hydrography program at Stennis Space Center offers valuable networking options should he choose a career in government or private industry.

"Having students available for hire at the conclusion of the program will be welcome news to the hydrographic industry," Dodd said. Numerous commercial and governmental entities engaged in hydrographic surveying have contacted Dodd during the four years since the program's inception requesting an opportunity to recruit Southern Miss students.

"Now that opportunity to recruit students from a Category-A certified hydrographic program will be available," he said.

The unparalleled support of major governmental organizations and private industry has certainly been a key to the program's growth, said Dr. David Wells, professor of hydrographic science with the program.

"U.S. and foreign employers and government agencies have recognized the value of the Southern Miss program and have been willing to make the investment of personnel and resources to enhance their expertise," Wells said.

During their coursework, hydrography students also have an opportunity to participate in ongoing hydrographic research at the university's Hydrographic Science Research Center, also located at Stennis.

The first hydrographic science class graduated from the Southern Miss hydrographic science program in August 2000. The fourth and most recent class graduated Aug. 1, bringing the total of Southern Miss students to graduate with the master of science degree in hydrographic science to 45.

The Southern Miss Department of Marine Science is strategically located at Stennis Space Center in Hancock County, Miss., home to the world's largest population of oceanographers and hydrographers.

The department offers both master's and doctoral degrees in marine science and a master's degree in hydrographic science.

Our Lady of Guadalupe Relic to visit New Orleans

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Thousands are expected to turn out at St. Patrick's Catholic Church as The Tilma of Tepeyac Tour brings a small piece of St. Juan Diego's tilma - the cloth that holds the image of Our Lady of Guadalupe - to the Archdiocese of New Orleans. The tour is being organized by the Apostolate for Holy Relics (AHR) and is being cosponsored by the Knights of Columbus. Holy Cross Family Ministries is providing rosaries for the event.

The tour opened in Denver's Immaculate Conception Cathedral on May 30, with over 6,000 people attending the two and a half day event, and it will end at New York City's Cathedral of St. Patrick on Dec. 7. Other stops include the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington DC, and Cathedrals and parishes nationwide.

The final itinerary is available on the AHR website, www.relictour.org.

The relic - on loan from the Archdiocese of Los Angeles and likely the only one in the US - is a small piece of the tilma that was detached and sent to the Archbishop of Los Angeles by Archbishop Luis Maria Martinez of Mexico City in

The faithful believe that the Virgin Mary miraculously left an image of herself on the tilma in 1531. This image continues to baffle scientists and is the most recognizable religious symbol in Mexico.

Juan Diego was canonized by Pope John Paul II on July 31, 2002, in front of over 5 million people. Up to 20 million people visit the Basilica in Mexico City - the most visited Catholic shrine in the world.

"The tour will promote devotion to the Mother of God, especially through devotion to the Rosary in this year proclaimed by the Pope to be the Year of the Rosary," said National Tour Coordinator Andrew Walther. "We also hope that people will take the faith and devotion of St. Juan Diego as a model for their own lives," he added. Because the image of Our Lady of Guadalupe shows the Blessed Virgin with child, it is hoped that the tour will promote a respect for life as well.

"This will be a wonderful historical and cultural event bringing together the curious and the faithful," said AHR President Thomas Serafin.

A procession and the opening Mass for the tour will begin at 9:00 am on Saturday, August 30, 2003 at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, 524 Camp Street, New Orleans, LA. Veneration of the relic will continue throughout the day. Vigil Masses will be at 4:00 pm and 5:30 pm, followed by veneration of the relic and recitation of the rosary until closing at midnight. Sunday Masses will be at 8:00 am, 9:30 am (Latin), 11:00 am, and 5 pm (Spanish). Relic veneration and the recitation of the rosary will occur throughout the day. The tour will close after the 5 pm Mass with a blessing with the relic.

Boat U.S. Boating Safety Grants available

THE SEA COAST ECHO
With the U.S. Coast Guard recently indicating that up to 15% of all boating related drownings could involve carbon monoxide, the BoatU.S. Foundation for Boating Safety & Clean Water will give special consideration to funding boating safety projects that focus on carbon monoxide during its 2004 Boating Safety Grant program campaign. The program gives grants of up to $5,000, to local community organizations, boat and yacht clubs, flotillas and squadrons. A total of nearly $45,000 in grant funding is available and the deadline to apply is November 1, 2003.

"While we will accept applications on any boating safety topic, carbon monoxide is a serious problem that needs to be addressed," said Chris Edmonston, director of the Foundation's Boating Safety Programs. "Whether you cruise, houseboat, water ski, or simply have a generator, this problem has the potential to affect nearly every boater."

Over the past 15 years the Foundation has awarded over $570,000 to organizations that develop creative and innovative projects that promote safe boating on local waterways. Topics have ranged from creating literature on the effects of boating under the influence to boat ramp signage informing users about free vessel safety checks.

To download an application and learn more about Boating Safety Grants please visit www.BoatUS.com/foundation or call 1-800-336-BOAT. The grants will be awarded in late January 2004.

The BoatU.S. Foundation for Boating Safety and Clean Water is a national 501(c)(3) non-profit education and research organization funded by the voluntary contributions of 540,000 members of BoatU.S., the nation's largest recreational boat owners association. The mission of the Foundation is to promote safe and environmentally sensitive boating, reduce accidents and fatalities, and increase stewardship of our water resources. The Foundation operates the only accredited, free, online boating safety course, a low-cost EPIRB rental program, a free Kids Life jacket Loaner program, and awards grants to non-profit groups for boating safety and environmental projects.

For more information on making a tax-deductible donation to help keep programs like these afloat, go

IN THE DAYS OF ELIJAH HE CONTINUALLY BATTLED THE PAGAN PRIESTS WHO WERE IMPORTED
BY QUEEN JEZEBEL WHO WISHED TO DISPLACE THE LORD WITH HER OWN HEATHEN GODS.
ELIJAH WAS GUIDED TO SEEK A CONFRONTATION WITH THE PRIESTS OF BAAL. (1 KINGS 18:20-40)
HE SENT A MESSAGE TO THE ISRAELITES TELLING THEM TO GATHER AT MOUNT CARMEL...AND WITH ALL ISRAEL GATHERED
BEFORE HIM, IN A PILSATING MASS
OF HUMANITY, WONDERING, TALKING,
LAUGHING, JOKING, ELIJAH STANDS
BEFORE THEM—A STARKLY LONE,
YET COURAGEOUS FIGURE! HE
RAISES HIS ARM IN A COMMANDING
GESTURE AND SLOWLY THE TUMULT
OF THE CROWD DIMINISHES TO A
DEEP SILENCE AS THE PROPHET OF
THE LORD PREPARES TO SPEAK...

Greed destroys the best in us

Greed is all around us and unfortunately inside some of us.

WorldCom, Enron and a death rattle lineup of megacompanies stand before our mind's eye as object examples of the ravages of corporate greed and the individual greed of CEOs and accountants who have much but never enough.

However, greed is not just about huge corporations and their sneaky little underlings. It infests as well the many pedestrian workers among us who are big shot wannabes. One of the most curious examples lies in the local oyster beds of the Gulf Coast in and around Louisiana.

By now, the whole world knows how rampant serious beach erosion is on many of our country's coasts and how Louisiana in particular loses land area equivalent to a football field every day. Ever since humans thought they could manage the annual floods of Mother Nature with levees, the wetlands flora are dying because they have not been replenished with fresh water.

Bumbling oil companies crisscrossed the wetlands with ditches and pipes, allowing more salt water intrusion. Finally, unenlightened scientists allowed some nutrias to escape. Dwarfing muskrats in size, the orange-toothed terrors dig holes in the levees and eat the roots of wetlands greenery. The resulting salt water intrusion and land loss have finally kicked the Army Corps of Engineers into action, pioneering such initiatives as the Caernarvon fresh water diversion which channels huge amounts of water from the Mississippi into the wetlands, thereby driving out the salinity.

It was thought that this heavy infusion of fresh water would interfere with the multiplication and maturing of oysters, which need a good balance between salt and fresh water to prosper. To everyone's surprise, many of the supposedly damaged oyster beds are producing above-average harvests.

Still, greedy oyster farmers, prodded by equally greedy lawyers, filed suit. Feeling generous with taxpayers' money, a mindless jury awarded the farmers $1.3 billion, or $21,345 per acre. The lead plaintiff alone showed he was not driven by greed, calling the award excessive and declaring he would have gladly accepted $2,000 per acre. The going price per acre is $1,000.

Jesus hit the nail on the head when he repeatedly warned against greed in Matthew 6 and elsewhere in the gospels. His own apostles were his primary target in a number of instances where greed and money took center stage.

They had no clue as to why anyone should not be eager to acquire and keep.

"Then who can be saved?" was the curiously inclusive

Reflections on Life by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

reaction of the apostles to the statement of Jesus that only with great difficulty will rich people be saved (Matthew 19:24-25). Their great astonishment indicated clearly that they believed there are only two categories of people: the rich, and all the rest of humankind who hanker rabidly after riches.

Very many bewildered, disturbed people around the country have painfully observed greed in the unlikelyst of places: New York's Ground Zero.

Whoever lost a family member in the 911 attack will get an average of $1,185,000, ranging from a minimum of $250,000 up to $4.7 million.

By contrast, if you lost a family member in the military, you will get a $6,000 direct death benefit, half of which is taxable. After receiving $1,750 for burial costs, you will get $833 monthly until you remarry, if you are the surviving spouse. Each child under 18 receives $211 per month.

The ugly, unconscionable gulf between the huge Ground Zero payments and the niggardly payments for a military death is bad enough. What makes it many times uglier is the lustful greed of some of the relatives of Ground Zero victims who, unbelievably, are clamoring for more money.

As if on cue, the surviving members of the Oklahoma City bombing put in their bid, attempting to piggyback on the good fortune of the Ground Zero beneficiaries. While no one wants to deny them their due, most of us have been turned off by the mercenary greed exhibited by some of them.

"Where the body is, there also the vultures will gather," (Luke 17:37).

Jesus observed in an apocalyptic context very different from our everyday activities. However, the statement of Jesus easily applies to the antics of many relatives as soon as they learn of the demise of a supposed loved one.

Not unlike their winged counterparts, some greedy relatives descend on the premises of the deceased before the body is cold, staking out their claims on furniture, property, the house and the provisions of the will.

Sadly, many of them have not been around for the span of a generation or more.

Oozing out like an outsize, deadly amoeba, greed suffocates the most intimate relationships, first of family, then of friends, associates, co-workers, business and finally every worthwhile contact anywhere in our lives.

"Your heavenly Father knows that you need (food, drink, clothes); Seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things will be given you besides." (Matthew 6:32-33)

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

The King of all the heavens came to earth and died for the sins of mankind, and to reveal "The Kingdom of God."

The people of that day were in bondage to the power of their sins an enslavement to the enemy of their souls. II Cor. 4:4, Eph. 6:12.

The Lord Jesus address the need of the people and their helplessness. He set people free.

The scripture says, "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because He has anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor, He has sent me to heal the broken hearted, to preach deliverance to captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord." Luke 4:18 & 19.

He address the physical the mental, and spiritual condition of people. Most were poor in spirit and have no knowledge of the things of God. Many were sick physically and mentally. The general public was downtrodden.

Even tho these condition existed when Jesus was walking the face of the earth, it is still true today.

Do we see the church attacking the things that have enslaved mankind? Has the pulpits and the born again believers met the needs of troubled people? I think not.

The world is on the way to hell and we do very little about it. We will give an account for our do nothing attitude.

A spiritual infusion we all need. Let's not have blood on our hands.

St. Clare Catholic Church

It's been said that many people, in some way, are searching for God. Reaching out to those who are looking for answers is what RCIA (Rite of Christian Initiation for Adults) is all about. It is a continuing process of prayer, study and discussion to bring new members into the Catholic Church.

Noel Phillips, Director of Religious Education for the parish, said that the lay members of St. Clare will be reaching out to:

1. Unbaptized adults and baptized Christians from other faiths who want to learn more about the Catholic faith and possibly become Catholics;

2. Catholics who may have been baptized but have not received the other Sacraments required of Catholics.

The first phase, which begins on Aug. 28 at 7 p. m. at St. Clare, 234 South Beach Boulevard, Waveland, is a preliminary program to explain the process of preparing adults for initiation into the church through the reception of the Sacraments of Baptism, the Eucharist and Confirmation.

Parishioners are invited to ask friends and neighbors to the meeting, as well as those who may benefit from the inquiry and all who may wish to join as sponsors or workers in this outreach process.

For further information, contact Noel Phillips at 228-467-3296 or the Rectory at 228-467-9275.

FEMA kicks off Public Safety Campaign to reduce fire deaths of babies and toddlers

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) announced today a campaign to raise awareness about the increased risk of fire death for young children, and to teach parents and caregivers how they can avoid the tragedy. The campaign's message emphasizes installing smoke alarms, securing lighters and matches, and developing a fire evacuation plan under the theme: "Prepare. Practice. Prevent the Unthinkable."

"A baby or toddler under age five dies nearly every day in a residential fire," said Homeland Security Under Secretary Michael D. Brown. "These young children have a disproportionately higher risk of fire death than the rest of the population. They depend on their parents and caregivers to keep them safe, to prevent residential fires from starting, and to increase the chances that the entire family can escape a fire quickly and safely."

From 1989 through 1998, U.S. children younger than age five were twice as likely as the rest of the population to die in a residential fire; in that decade 5,712 children died in fires in this country, according to the U.S. Fire Administration, part of FEMA and the initiator of the campaign.

"No child - not a single one - should suffer such an awful death, a death that can be prevented by parents who take the necessary precautions," said Fire Administrator R. David Paulison. "Every parent and every caregiver with young children depending on them must take a few simple but important steps to prevent this tragedy. Even toddlers can be taught how to quickly respond in case of fire and adults need to know how they will escape with infants."

The Fire Safety Campaign for Babies and Toddlers includes four national partner organizations that have pledged to spread the message to parents and caregivers, including the American Academy of Pediatrics, National SAFE KIDS Campaign, the NFPA (National Fire Protection Association), and ZERO TO THREE.

The campaign materials include a print public service announcement, an educational video on fire safety for babies and toddlers, posters, brochures and fact sheets. The media, parents and caregivers can access the information, in both English and Spanish at www.usfaparents.gov or can order materials through the U.S. Fire Administration's Publications Online Catalog, at www.usfa.fema.gov/applications/publications/.

The U.S. Fire Administration has a mission to reduce life and economic losses due to fire and related emergencies through leadership, advocacy, coordination and support. It is the federal leader in public fire education and awareness, fire service training, fire-related technology and data collection.

On March 1, 2003, FEMA became part of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. FEMA's continuing mission within the new department is to lead the effort to prepare the nation for all hazards and effectively manage federal response and recovery efforts following any national incident. FEMA also initiates proactive mitigation activities, trains first responders, and manages Citizen Corps, the National Flood Insurance Program and the U.S. Fire Administration.

Checking in With Wade Robson

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

In 1982, Michael Jackson's album "Thriller" and the accompanying video set off a pop-music dance craze. Kids in living rooms, rec rooms and bedrooms across the world tried to learn Jackson's "moonwalk."

One of those kids was Wade Robson. Born in the year the album came out, he was memorizing "Thriller" steps at age 2 in his hometown of Brisbane, Australia.

"We go way back," Robson says of Jackson. "I started dancing as soon as I could move my legs. We met when I was 5, and then again when I was 7, (and we) became friends. He was then, and still is, my Yoda."

By 16, Robson had moved on from dancing to choreographing for Britney Spears' TV and live performances.

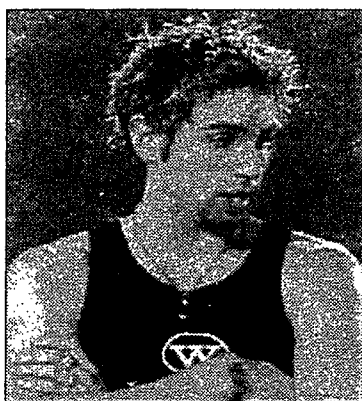

Robson later worked with "NSYNC on routines for the MTV Music Video Awards and Billboard Music Awards. He also was a recording artist as part of the rap duo Quo.

Now, Robson offers breaks to the next generation of dancers with his MTV series "The Wade Robson Project."

"The thing that's cool and ironic is MTV taught me to dance," he says. "Now, I'm going to teach people to dance on MTV."

Premiering Monday, Sept. 1, the series is preceded by "The Wade Robson Project: Audition Special," airing Saturday, Aug. 23. It shows Robson auditioning amateur dancers for the series, which offers cash prizes and a professional dancing debut.

Robson is executive producer, director and host of the show, which began taping on July 31.

Wade Robson

"The auditions were a blast," he says. "It's refreshing to be around these kids that are so pumped to have an opportunity. It reminds me and everybody else why we do it in the first place - because we love it."

"You've got to work your butt off and make things happen, but there's always got to be at least one person that's going to believe in you and give you that chance."

Birthdate: Sept. 17, 1982.

Family ties: Parents Lynnette Joy and Dennis Leslie Robson; sister Chantal, a dancer; brother Shane, a police detective; two Maltese terriers, Yogi and Angel.

Adopted home: Southern California, where the family relocated when Robson was in grade school.

Describes himself as: Perfectionist, ambitious, hard-working, happy, caring.

Fan mail: C/O "The Wade Robson Project," MTV Networks, 1515 Broadway, New York, NY 10036-8901.

It's back to the future again for a loony Duck Dodgers

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

After all these years, one would hope Daffy Duck would learn something, anything. But nope, he is still a cowardly blowhard in the 24th century.

Alas, Daffy, now known as Duck Dodgers, remains as wacky, bossy and, well, fowl as ever, and his sidekick, Porky Pig, now known as the Eager Young Space Cadet, is as terminally optimistic as ever in Cartoon Network's fabulous "Duck Dodgers," premiering Saturday, Aug. 23.

If anyone has learned anything, it is Spike Brandt and Tony Cervone, the creators, writers and directors of this great animated series. All too often, tampering with a classic results in a tepid copy. In this case, fans who love the original Looney Tunes should not be disappointed.

What makes Looney Tunes great - fast-paced dialog, a real plot, silly lines and superb animation - are all here. Adults will stop in their tracks when they realize that, yes, that is Tom Jones crooning the theme song.

The pilot explains that Duck Dodgers has been on ice for 351 years. He is defrosted, given a spaceship and a mission: to protect Earth from Martians. Naturally, Marvin the Martian has a solid role. The pilot shows Duck Dodgers on trial for his life.

When Earth is imperiled, Duck Dodgers and his faithful assistant save humans by having potato chips rain down on the planet. When Duck Dodgers behaves like a marauding cowboy, freezing mucous creatures on planet Eeechh, he is stopped by the sight of curvaceous aliens who, of course, are up to no good.

"You go to sleep together and wake up together," says Jessica Simpson of husband Nick Lachey on MTV's "Newlyweds" Tuesday, Aug. 19. "There are times you want to pull each other's hair out, but he is your soul mate. And

The wedding was a TV special, the marriage gets its own show

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

The first year of marriage is typically fraught with moments of discovery.

She learns, perhaps when a check bounces, that he has never written in a checkbook register. He learns that she considers a quick chat with her best friend to be anything under an hour. It's that first year when they learn how to live together as a couple.

Of course, most folks do that privately. Some celebrities, however, have conducted so much of their lives in the public eye it seems natural for them to continue.

Singers Jessica Simpson and Nick Lachey have an unusually public love affair. Their courtship, breakup and reconciliation were well documented. Their wedding was part of an NBC special this past January about celebrity weddings.

So what's left? Well, the marriage, and for a day-to-day chronicle of their new life, tune into MTV's "Newlyweds," kicking off Tuesday, Aug. 19.

The singers, who wed last October, say they remain very much in love, and their easy affections with each other make this seem more genuine than some celeb pairings. The couple has cameras following them, but Lachey says they drew the line at the bedroom and the bathroom.

Aside from that, is anything taboo?

"I guess the only thing that would be private is anything negative we have to say about another celebrity," Simpson says. "Unless we have a couple of glasses of wine, and then we are in trouble. I have bit my tongue a couple of times."

Simpson acknowledges that she is "not going to have any enemies over it."

As of press time, all MTV had was a six-minute clip showing the couple in their natural habitat. Some of this was video from the wedding, showing a beautiful bride in a Vera Wang gown and a smitten groom as they kiss.

Simpson wrote, "I Do: Achieving Your Dream Wedding," a book about planning her wedding, for which she has done considerable promotion. Now the couple is promoting their individual albums, both of which are scheduled to be released the same day the MTV show debuts. His, "SoulO," marks his first effort without pop group 98 Degrees; Hers, her third, is "In This Skin."

Given this vast amount of publicity, why would they want more?

"Nick and I just talked about it and immediately said yes," Simpson says from a Hollywood hotel room before a press conference. "The power of MTV is unbelievable. And, it is great for our careers because of the publicity that we will be getting. And, Nick and I are good people. There wasn't going to be anything we had to hide that would ruin our careers. Nick and I are a great example of true love. My whole career, I have tried to be a positive role model for young girls and for brides. People really expect celebrity marriages to fail. This is a great way to point out that we are completely in love, and you won't hear any rumors."

Simpson had declared her intention to remain a virgin until her wedding night, and so she became a bride who could wear white in the most traditional sense. "And it really meant something," she says of sex. "That's a great adjustment for us, and it's a different world, and it takes you to a different level of love. And we love each other passionately, and that gave us something to look forward to." She stops herself there, and giggles.

Naturally, they are yet to celebrate their first anniversary, and are still at the stage where each finds the other's household foibles cute.

Simpson admits she is sloppy and that her husband is neat. "The towel comes off my body and stays on the floor," she says. "I have always been taken care of my whole life. My mom always cleaned up after me and made our beds. She is a supermom. Then, I lived by myself, and I hired a housekeeper to come in three times a week, and do laundry and pick up after me."

She describes Lachey, "as taking on the woman role and I take on the sloppy male role. He has done laundry since third grade and even irons his under-shirts." It wasn't until the couple went on "Oprah" that Simpson and Winfrey persuaded him to hire a maid for their home, Simpson says.

'Hornblower' hunk sets sail for CBS drama

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q: Will A&E be offering any more of its "Horatio Hornblower" TV movies? If not, what is gorgeous Ioan Gruffudd up to these days? -Helen D., Independence, Mo.

A: Good news on two fronts, Helen! A&E Network does indeed have two more "Hornblower" movies scheduled to air in December. But the bigger news is that its handsome Welsh star, the 29-year-old Gruffudd, has decided to test the waters of American television. He's been cast as an attorney in "Century City," a futuristic CBS legal drama set in the world of 2053. The cast for the midseason series also includes Hector Elizondo ("Chicago Hope") and Nestor Carbonell ("Suddenly Susan").

Meanwhile, Gruffudd's real-life best buddy, actor Matthew Macfadyen of A&E's gripping "MI-5" series, is shaping up to be the Next Big Thing among A&E's female viewers. The lanky Scottish actor tells me he wouldn't be averse to risking a California suntan if the right part comes along for himself, either.

Q: The news that Angela Lansbury has decided to retire Jessica Fletcher, her "Murder, She Wrote" character, makes me want to drop her a card and thank her for the years of pleasure she and Jessica have given us. Do you have any suggestions? -Margaret S. via e-mail.

A: A publicist at CBS, Lansbury's longtime network home, suggests writing to the actress in care of Dena Flekman, Corymore Entertainment, 9171 Wilshire Blvd., No. 400, Beverly Hills, CA 90210.

Q: Will "My Big Fat Greek Life" be back in the fall? ■ We enjoyed that show! -C.R.D., Marysville, Wash.

A: No. After a huge February premiere, ratings for this TV spinoff of the hit movie "My Big Fat Greek Wedding" sank like a soggy baklava.

Star Nia Vardalos, whose real-life experiences inspired "Wedding," never wanted to do the TV show in the first place, but was contractually obligated to do the series as part of her movie deal. Now that "Greek Life" has tanked, the actress is free to proceed with her Plan A: making more movies. She stars with Toni Collette in the 2004 comedy "Connie and Carla," which Vardalos also wrote.

Failure is not an option for motocross freestyler Metzger

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

To succeed in any field or discipline, conventional wisdom goes, one must first fail.

Mike Metzger does not subscribe to that philosophy. In his line of work, performing freestyle tricks on his motorcycle, failure can mean a long hospital stay - or worse.

"I don't like to attempt things," he says. "I like to do them. So there's a right time, when you feel the confidence. Like I wasn't the first guy to go out and try a back flip. A couple of other guys did, and I pretty much saw their mistakes and then figured it out how to do it the right way. So, I'm not all about going out and just trying to impress the crowd by hurting myself. ... I've been down that road before - live and learn - and I've done a lot of learning over my life."

Last week, Metzger and more than 300 of the world's top action-sports athletes gathered in Los Angeles for the ninth annual X Games. ESPN, ESPN2 and ABC will combine to present over 20 original hours of competition in a variety of events, including aggressive in-line skating, bicycle stunt, motocross, skateboarding, BMX and wakeboarding. Taped coverage runs Sunday through Friday, Aug. 17-22, from Staples Center, the Los Angeles Coliseum and other area locations.

Metzger, a freestyle specialist with a racing background, landed his first ramp-to-dirt back flip a little over a year ago, and only attempted it when he felt confident enough that he could do it right the first time. While he was excited to be the first to do it successfully, he says he has more difficult tricks in his repertoire that don't get the attention.

Among them are: the McMetz, where an airborne rider passes both feet through his arms and then back to the foot pedals; and the double-can no-hander, where the rider moves one leg to the other side of the bike, elevating his bottom off the seat.

Then, of course, there is the one no one has yet done: the 360, where the rider executes one full horizontal spin while in mid-air. Metzger doesn't know if he'll be the first to pull it off. As was the case with the back flip, he'll try it when the time feels right. "I'm not really worried about being the first guy to do a 360," he says. "I know when it's my time to do a 360, I'll do it better than anyone else, and that's pretty much all that matters."

Metzger, 27, began riding a bicycle at the age of 3 and has been riding competitively - BMX and, later, motocross, since he was 6. Over the course of his career, he has captured first place at the Vans Triple Crown of Freestyle in 1998 and 1999, as well as two gold medals at last year's X Games.

He's also had his share of crashes and suffered more than his share of injuries, including three broken backs, three broken femurs, and torn up knees and wrists, resulting in "metal all over my body. I have metal in my right forearm right now - seven screws, metal plate. Metal in the back of my right knee; metal in both my wrists."

He's even been known to set off airport metal detectors. "Usually, they catch the right arm with the seven screws and the metal plate," Metzger says. "That usually turns up. I used to have big metal rods in both my femurs, and then I ended up getting both of those taken out just over a year and a half after surgery on each one. So I had to have surgery ... and that's definitely not a fun thing to go through. Surgery - I hate it."

But Metzger indicates his most painful injury was "busting out my teeth last year at the 2002 Supercross," he says. "I shattered five teeth, and now I have eight beautiful 24-carat-gold teeth. So I always told Mom I wanted gold teeth. I didn't know I was going to have to go through that much pain to get them." He reports his shiny new choppers feel like normal teeth, adding that they're "a little bit smoother - smooth, like my style."

Metzger's proudest achievement is being able to make a living doing something he loves, "because it's something I never expected," he says. "Growing up, I always thought that I'd be a full-time racer, and just being able to make a living off jumping my bike, I find that pretty cool because I never expected to do that."

He's also proud of the influence he feels he's had over the sport. "I've done a few different things to just pretty much change the whole industry," he says, "from riding freestyle motocross and doing tricks - for which they call me the Godfather of the sport, because I was the first to do BMX-style tricks on my motorcycle. And then wearing baggy pants and kind of changing the whole fashion direction of the sport, from motocross-oriented gear to baggy, snowboard-style pants, and now, you know, a lot of guys wear shorts with skateboard kneepads and stuff. I think that's probably the biggest thing I'm really stoked on, is that I'm always constantly thinking of new things and really changing the whole industry. And that's a good thing."

Mike Metzger, the first moto X freestyler to successfully land a back flip, is among the competitors at the X Games, which air Sunday through Friday on ABC, ESPN and ESPN2.

"You don't want anything to ever become stale, and when stuff becomes stale, that's when I start looking to do new things. And I'm really good at being a visionary and seeing where the sport's going and what people want to see."

So what's next for the Godfather when freestyle becomes stale? "I've got to race," he says. "Racing's a lot more in my blood than freestyle. Freestyle is just something that happened, and I'm really lucky that I make a good living off it. But racing never seems to go stale, and with super moto X, that's the biggest thing I got going right now. I just signed a deal with Honda recently, and eventually I plan on being a full-time racer and kind of putting freestyle on the back burner and eventually going road racing. That's what I really want to do: Be a professional road racer."

Shania Twain is 'Up!' and running in free concert

On July 27th, Shania Twain was the bargain concert ticket of the summer.

She's a country star, a pop star, a five-time Grammy Award winner and a six-time American Music Award winner, who gave a free performance in Chicago's Grant Park on that Sunday. The special was taped and airs Tuesday, Aug. 19, on NBC as a two-hour program called "Shania Twain Up! Live in Chicago."

Calling in from the Windy City a few days before the show, Twain promises, "It's going to be great fun, just a lot of excitement. There's a whole other feeling to being outside. And not too windy, is what I'm hoping."

The concert includes songs from Twain's latest compact disc, "UP!" including the singles "I'm Gonna Getcha Good" and "Forever and for Always."

"It's not a touring show," Twain says. "It's more the idea of a one-off. There isn't a dramatic theme or anything like that. It's pretty much a straight-ahead rock summer concert in the park. That's the feeling I want to give off. It's not the same sort of production direction you might take on a stadium tour."

"It's a much freer feeling than that, which is great. I've been off tour for three-and-a-half years. We haven't been on stage for so long, and for me, there's something fresh about it and exciting. There'll be an adrenaline that's higher than usual."

Twain chose Chicago, she says, because "It just ended up being a great location. The city itself is cool, but we had to think about park location. This happened to be a park that is well suited to setting up a big concert."

"The city's been so cooperative. That's been the main reason - who can we work with that's really going to make this happen? They've been amazing."

As for the kind of faces she expects to see in the crowd, Twain suspects it will be varied. "If I look at my audience, they're so salt-and-peppered. Maybe there'd be a group of six teenage girls, then you'll see, beside them, a family with parents in their 30s and their two kids under eight. Then, you'll see maybe an older couple on the other side."

"It's really funny to see all these people just getting into the music, and how they all react and respond to each other."

Twain feels her mixed crowd will help keep her free concert a positive experience. "They all feed off of each other. It keeps people who would maybe get out of control, more in control, and it pipes everybody else up who might normally prefer to sit at a concert."

These days, Twain balances her music career with the personal commitments of marriage to producer and songwriter Robert John "Mutt" Lange, and being a mom to their toddler son, Eja.

"Mutt was actually more of a musical influence on me before I met him than he is now," Twain says. "He was responsible for so much of the music in my teens: The Cars, Def Leppard, Bryan Adams, AC/DC, Billy Ocean. A big part of why we came together in the first place was because of his love for country music."

"So, it's quite ironic that I was so influenced by his rock background, and he was so influenced by the country background."

While Twain thinks it's too early to tell how motherhood will affect her music, she does say, "In the future, I will be writing from a deeper perspective. I just feel deeper now. My emotions are deeper; my thought processes are deeper."

For now, she'd just like you to tune in on Tuesday. "I'm hosting this concert, which is how I'm seeing it, and everybody's invited."

Shania Twain at the 30th annual "American Music Awards" at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles, Monday, January 13, 2003 (8:00-11:00 p.m., ET), airing on the ABC Television Network.

Gottfried eyes scheduled in predicting '03 college football

By Mark Passaro
 © Zap2it

Like the former coach that he is, Mike Gottfried knows how to set up a team for early-season success: Pad its schedule with lesser lights before the heavyweight conference matchups begin.

That's the path taken in 2003 by Kansas State, which kicks off the season by hosting California in the BCA Classic Saturday, Aug. 23, on ESPN.

"They should be in the top 10, with what they have back, and their schedule really kind of comes around nicely for them," says Gottfried, who will provide analysis for the opening broadcast. "They've got California - they'll beat them, Troy State, McNeese State, Massachusetts, Marshall. They'll beat all those teams, so they'll be 5-0 ... and they don't play Oklahoma! So they'll play them in the (Big 12) championship game."

As for why the Sooners will get there, Gottfried points out that "they have nine starters back on defense. That tells it all."

The race in the Atlantic Coast Conference should be more competitive, with Maryland, North Carolina State and possibly Virginia set to challenge reigning champion Florida State.

"I would say the best team in the ACC probably should be Maryland," Gottfried says. "(Scott) McBrien came along as quarterback, (running back) Bruce Perry's back. Defensively, they played a lot of young guys last season. North Carolina State is loaded. As long as they've got (quarterback) Philip Rivers, you must beat them because they're not gonna beat themselves. But they've got tough road games, (including) Ohio State early in the year. But they're good on defense.

"Now Florida State, I never count Florida State out because (running back) Greg Jones is coming back, and I think (quarterback Chris) Rix will be better," he continues. "But their schedule is not good. They've got home games against Colorado and Miami, and they have to go to Notre Dame and Florida. I still think Virginia is a year away."

In the Big East, Gottfried is partial to a former employer of his. "I wouldn't rule out Pittsburgh," he says of the team he coached from 1986 to 1989. "They've been slowly coming back. I think you can't rule them out because their quarterback (Rod Rutherford) is coming back, they've got the receiver (Larry) Fitzgerald that's real good. So I think they've got a chance."

Perennial powers Virginia Tech and Miami will leave the Big East for the ACC after this season, yet Gottfried believes it will affect the conference this year, too, because he feels the remaining members will be gunning for the defectors. "They're going to try to prove (them) wrong. That's going to be a real story this year, I think."

With all 11 starters back on offense, defending national champion Ohio State "should be back in the championship game, but I like Michigan in the Big Ten," Gottfried says. "I thought (quarterback John) Navarre really came around last year in the Florida (Outback Bowl) game." Navarre will become the first Michigan quarterback to start four straight openers since Rick Leach did so in the late 1970s.

Stars on both sides of the ball give Georgia a chance to repeat in the Southeastern Conference. Gottfried says, "I think they can because they have (quarterback) David Greene back. They lost a lot ... but defensively they've got (David) Pollack back, and Pollack might be one of the best players in the country, defensively. I think Florida is gonna drop because of losing (quarterback Rex) Grossman and the cupboard has been bare there, so they're going to suffer a little bit until they get that (consensus No. 1 high school) quarterback Chris Leak playing."

In the SEC West, Gottfried favors Auburn, with Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana State not far behind.

Out West, the June dismissal of coach Rick Neuheisel at Washington threw the Pac-10 out of whack. "Boy, that's interesting," Gottfried says. "With Washington's situation, that's gonna be a good race. I had UCLA in a bowl game (last year), and UCLA was loaded. They have young quarterbacks (Drew Olson and Matt Moore) and they're gonna be good. But I'm gonna pick Southern Cal - I'm going to downgrade Washington a little bit because of what's happened in the off-season - and I'm gonna say a surprise team, Arizona State, and UCLA."

"I think it's gonna be a great year," Gottfried concludes. "I think it's gonna be Oklahoma, Ohio State or Michigan in the national championship game. It wouldn't surprise me if Kansas State made it because (Bill Snyder) does such a great coaching job."

"NASCAR Winston Cup Michigan 400" Sunday, Aug. 17 (TNT, 2 p.m. ET): The dog days of summer were barking at Dale Jarrett when the calendar turned from July to August. At that time, D.J. stood in 24th place in NASCAR's point standings, an unfamiliar position for a 31-time Winston Cup winner who hasn't finished outside the top 10 in points since 1995. He has, though, finished first in today's race, the Michigan 400, four times, including rebounding from a spin-out on the 11th lap to win last year.

"NFL Preseason Football" Monday, Aug. 18 (ABC, 8 p.m. ET): Of the 10 players who remain from the St. Louis Rams' 1999 Super Bowl squad, Kurt Warner is the most important. The quarterback, who missed a good chunk of last season with a hand injury, has been crisply throwing the ball in camp, which is great news for the Rams as they prepare to face the Tampa Bay Buccaneers tonight. Warner may not play a whole lot, but that's understandable against a Bucs' defense known for putting a hurt on opposing passers.

"Horse Racing" Saturday, Aug. 23 (ESPN, 5 p.m. ET): With it's historic summer horse racing season in full swing, the tiny town of Saratoga Springs, N.Y., gains a portion of the national sports spotlight today with the running of the Travers Stakes. The reason? A much-anticipated rematch between New York-bred gelding Funny Cide - whose six owners reside in and around Saratoga - and Empire Maker. Funny Cide came out of nowhere to win the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, while Maker captured the Belmont.

Sunday Best Bets

1 p.m. on TNT
NASCAR Racing

The dog days of summer were barking at Dale Jarrett when the calendar turned from July to August. At that time, D.J. stood in 24th place in NASCAR's point standings, an unfamiliar position for the 31-time Winston Cup winner who hasn't finished outside the top 10 in points since 1995. He has, though, finished first in today's race, the Michigan 400, four times, including rebounding from a spinout on the 11th lap to win last year.

7 p.m. and TBS
Movie: Red Water

The hunt for an underwater natural gas source in Louisiana's bayou country brings an oil driller and his ex-wife (Lou Diamond Phillips, Kristy Swanson) together in this new adventure. The job becomes more than routine when their boat is hijacked by two criminals in search of a sunken treasure, and a ravenous shark makes its presence known. Coolio and Jaimz Woolvett also star.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS
Movie: True Crime

Clint Eastwood is director and star of this nicely paced 1999 suspense tale. He plays a reporter with a troubled personal life who suspects the death-row prisoner he's writing about is innocent. Denis Leary and James Woods play his bosses, who want him to stick to reporting and lay off his one-man crusade for justice. Michael Jeter and Diane Venora also star, with Isaiah Washington as the con-demned man.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

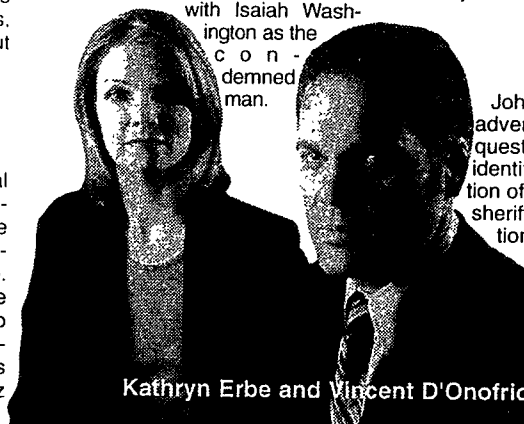

Law & Order: Criminal Intent

The brutal murders of a father and son clue Goren and Eames (Vincent D'Onofrio, Kathryn Erbe) into several disappearances from the same inner-city neighborhood in "Legion." The missing people are youngsters possibly linked to a bike-theft ring and a recording-studio operator (guest star Paul Calderon) who has major influence over his youthful admirers.

8 p.m. on BRAV

Movie: Lone Star

John Sayles, one of film's most adventurous directors, explores questions of racial and individual identity in this powerful reinvention of the Western genre. A Texas sheriff's (Chris Cooper) investigation of a 40-year-old skeleton found in the desert reveals a hidden side of his late father, a legendary former sheriff (Matthew McConaughey). There are no easy answers in this superbly acted, tautly woven mystery.

Kathryn Erbe and Vincent D'Onofrio

Floored to realize that Sarah is the same age that his own daughter, Zara, would have been, Marshall opened the coffin and was shocked by what he saw. Paul gloated in his triumph over Barbara regarding Jennifer and threatened to take Will next. Craig persuaded Rosanna to help him buy Java with Dusty. Later, at Carly's urging, Rosanna told a surprised Craig that she wants to adopt a child. Coming: Marshall looks for an answer.

Bold and Beautiful

Amber objected during the wedding ceremony, prompting a frustrated Macy to say that Amber's behavior is making her lose her child. Amber went ballistic on hearing this and attacked Macy. Macy and Deacon were married and left for their honeymoon, little Eric in tow. When Rick called Amber a liability in helping him secure Eric's custody, she bitterly offered to divorce him if that's what he wants. Ridge was pleasantly surprised to see his old friend Samantha, who used to live next door, and invited her to stay in one of the guesthouses, news that delighted Stephanie. Coming: Rick has to make a painful decision.

Days of Our Lives

Bo and Hope needed emergency treatment to survive the brutal attack, while Rex had flashbacks that appeared to point to his involvement. Shawn, Belle and Philip snuck into Rex's bedroom and found his "five-year plan" to amass power and wealth - all dependent on the goop that Bo and Hope destroyed. Meanwhile, John told Tony that if he is faking his coma and in fact attacked Bo and Hope, their truce is over. Coming: Tony wakes up!

General Hospital

Sonny left Jason and Courtney behind and took Carly back to Port Charles, where Alcazar later confronted her at the hospital. Courtney survived a storm at sea and found herself alone on Alcazar's abandoned yacht. As the yacht drew closer to shore, Courtney jumped overboard. Lydia agreed to work with Lucky to prove Stefan guilty of Summer's murder. After Ned refused to compromise with Alexis concerning Kristina, she gave Stefan the go-ahead to launch his plan against Ned. Emily had to be placed in a sterile room to preserve her deteriorating immune system. Coming: Elizabeth says no to Ric.

One Life to Live

After Walker deceived Jacques, the sinister looking man, by giving him a fake diamond, not the real Badhra, Jacques kidnapped Dorian. Shaken by the realization that Antonio and Jessica are intimate, Keri decided to punish Antonio, then smashed her head on the door and told R.J. that Antonio hit her. R.J. attacked Antonio, who beat him severely, as a horrified Jessica looked on. Al suspected that Deke drugged Marcie's drink after she began to act uncharacteristically. Coming: Kevin digs into Walker's past.

Passions

When Chad, Whitney and Fox found Ethan and Theresa kissing in bed, the duo insisted they didn't realize what they were doing until they woke up. Gwen later had a nightmare about Theresa and Ethan. Beth had a narrow escape when Luis almost discovered a blindfolded and gagged Sheridan, who had stumbled into the living room. When Luis couldn't feel Beth's baby move, he insisted on taking her to the doctor, causing Beth to panic. Meanwhile, Sheridan feared the worst when she developed medical problems. Coming: Chad gets an unwelcome surprise.

Soap Talk

Winter enjoys his alien personality on 'Days'

By Candace Havens
© Zap2it

When male models decide to act, it often doesn't work out.

Eric Winter is an exception. Prior to landing a role in "Days of Our Lives" as alien math wiz Rex, Winter was featured in Tommy Hilfiger ads and graced the runways of Milan, Paris and London.

When Winter first joined "Days of Our Lives," he had no idea he would be playing an extraterrestrial for a few months.

"They called and said I had the part, and I didn't really think about what might be coming up," Winter laughs. "Then, I read the script and found out I was an alien. I was like, 'OK, I'm an alien, and I have a twin sister.' You know, what are you going to do? But, it was good in a way because at first, we didn't have to talk much. It was a great way to go in and learn about the cameras and stuff without having to worry too much about learning all the lines."

These days, the genius Rex is doing a lot more talking, and Winter says he's learning more about the character every day.

"I think it's interesting that we've just recently learned he has a bit of a temper and it just comes out of nowhere," Winter says. "I like that fact that he's a bit mysterious, and I hope we continue to discover things as we go along."

Winter gets along great with the cast, but says his real-life family is much happier than his soap opera one.

"My parents are divorced, but they have and always are there for me," Winter says. "They've never missed a ball game or anything else I've done, and we've always been so close. Sometimes, it's kind of hard for me to relate to Rex because he's so closed off to the people who care about him. I'm lucky that my life is just the opposite."

Winter is pumped about the return of James Reilly - who left "Days" to create "Passions" - to the position of head writer. The actor didn't work under Reilly's former regime, but he says his cast mates have good things to say about Reilly.

"I've heard nothing but great things about him," Winter says. "I know the story lines might get a little crazier, but hey, I started as an alien, so I'm up for whatever comes our way."

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC NFL Preseason Football

Of the 10 players who remain from the St. Louis Rams' 1999 Super Bowl squad, Kurt Warner is the most important. The quarterback, who missed a good chunk of last season with a hand injury, has been crisply throwing the ball in camp, which is great news for the Rams as they prepare to face the Tampa Bay Buccaneers tonight. Warner may not play a whole lot, but that's understandable against a Bucs' defense known for putting a hurt on opposing passers.

Monday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 38-WB

7th Heaven

Eileen Brennan ("Private Benjamin") returns as Ms. Bink in "That Touch of Bink." She is asked by Eric and Chandler (Stephen Collins, Jeremy London) to help raise funds to repair the church roof, but needs some assistance in return. Ruthie's (Mackenzie Rosman) boyfriend (Scotty Leavenworth) is suspicious of his mother's beau. Lucy and Roxanne (Beverly Mitchell, Rachel Blanchard) spend a night on the town.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

History Detectives

A possible portrait of George Washington is investigated in Frederick, Md., in Part 4 of this miniseries. The picture has been passed down through many generations of one family, and it could prove quite valuable. Another Maryland clan's dwelling is suspected to be the home of a slave trader who kidnapped free men. Then, the program moves to Bucks County, Pa., where a trumpet may be an artifact from the Revolutionary War.

7 p.m. and BRAV

Movie: Extreme Measures

In a 1996 medical thriller produced by his former companion, actress Elizabeth Hurley, Hugh Grant plays a doctor too curious for his own good. He suspects that a hospital superior (Gene Hackman) is responsible for unauthorized experiments on the homeless, and the doctor's efforts to expose the truth ultimately put his own life in peril. Sarah Jessica Parker and David Morse ("Hack") co-

7 p.m. and TBS

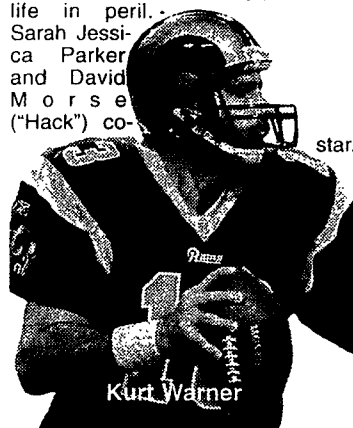

Movie: Blue Streak

Martin Lawrence has a good showcase in this 1999 action-comedy, which casts him as an ex-convict who wants to retrieve the loot he stashed before going to prison. That will be rather difficult since the site he used as a hiding place now has a police station built over it. To get inside the facility, he poses as a police detective and ends up being assigned to cases. Luke Wilson ("Alex and Emma") co-stars as his new partner.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Everwood

Although he's been preparing for a while, Ephram (Gregory Smith) is anxious about giving his first piano recital in Everwood in "Moonlight Sonata." Drs. Brown and Abbott (Treat Williams, Tom Amandes) assess a patient who wakes up with welts on his body. Despite being grounded, Amy (Emily VanCamp) devises a ruse to continue seeing Colin (Mike Erwin).

Tuesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

American Juniors

Tonight's the night for one more youngster to make the grade and for five others to go home heartbroken. Such is the price sometimes paid along the road to fame, but happier times await the five kids chosen from the 10 finalists via viewers' phoned-in votes. Expect this season finale to include words of encouragement from judges Deborah Gibson and Gladys Knight — and a lame joke or two from host Ryan Seacrest.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Shania Twain Up! Live in Chicago

After several years out of the lime-light, music superstar Twain has returned in a big way with the success of her album "Up!" She performs many of its tunes, including the title song and the current single, "Forever and for Always," in this concert from Grant Park in Chicago. The Canadian-born Twain should reprise several of her earlier hits, as well.

Deborah Gibson

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

Nova

Hal Holbrook narrates the story of the difficulties engineers and construction workers faced as they labored for four years to build a "Super Bridge" in this two-hour presentation. Located just north of St. Louis, the Clark Bridge has been hailed not only for its impressive design, but for how its construction has influenced the building of future cable-stayed structures.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The O.C.

It's deja vu for Ryan (Benjamin McKenzie), who again finds himself defended in court by Sandy (Peter Gallagher), in the new episode "The Gamble." Ryan also must deal with his mother's desire to become active in his life — and the sight of her on display at a casino-themed event. Sandy learns of the sizable loan Kirsten (Kelly Rowan) has made to Jimmy (Tate Donovan).

9 p.m. on 26-ABC

NYPD Blue

Sipowicz (Dennis Franz) faces danger without even leaving the precinct in "Oedipus Wrecked." While interrogating a suspect, he is taken hostage by the person he's questioning, resulting in tense moments for his peers as they try to ensure his safe release. A woman is arrested for possession of narcotics that her own son planted on her.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

A child beauty queen suffers a tragic fate in "Appearances." Her body is found in a suitcase on a Manhattan bus, sending Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) after a felon who targets young pageant entrants. Cabot (Stephanie March) goes up against her former law-school professor (guest star John Cullum, "Northern Exposure") while prosecuting the prime suspect.

9 p.m. on 19-PBS

P.O.V.

"West 47th Street" is a moving portrait of four people involved with New York's Fountain House, a center for the mentally ill, over three years. Viewers will share the day-to-day struggles of, among others, a man torn between the street drugs that lure him and the medication that can help him, and a woman who finds healing in the kitchen. The film was made by June Peoples and Bill Lichtenstein, who himself was diagnosed with manic depression 18 years ago.

9:30 p.m. on MTV

Newlyweds

What is life like for married music stars? Jessica Simpson and 98 Degrees veteran Nick Lachey provide answers in the premiere of this unscripted series. Basically "The Real World" with a couple of celebrities, the show follows their ups and downs during their first year of wedlock. It almost seems like karma that each has a new album coming out. Footage of their recording sessions is also included.

Movie: Backdraft

Director Ron Howard's 1991 fire-fighting saga has an impressive cast, but its true "stars" are the stunning sequences of actual blazes (accomplished with few injuries). Kurt Russell and William Baldwin play fireman brothers involved in the search for an arsonist. Robert De Niro, Donald Sutherland, Scott Glenn, Rebecca De Mornay and Jennifer Jason Leigh co-star.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

That '70s Show

Unable to meet the payment deadlines for Donna's (Laura Prepon) engagement ring, Eric (Topher Grace) has no choice but to ask her to return it in "No Quarter." Having Jackie (Mila Kunis) as a roommate adds to Donna's headaches. Hyde and Kelso's (Danny Masterson, Ashton Kutcher) friendship suffers from too much closeness.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Smallville

Lex (Michael Rosenbaum) finds an apparent soulmate in Lucas (guest star Paul Wasilewski, "Wolf Lake"), his brother given up by Lionel (John Glover) for adoption long ago, in "Prodigal." Fearing the siblings are scheming against him, Lionel takes action that imperils them all. Clark's (Tom Welling) new job at the Talon begins to impact his friendship with Lana (Kristin Kreuk).

American Masters

When big egos collide, the result is always chaotic and occasionally brilliant. That was certainly the case in the seven-year clash of director Alfred Hitchcock and producer David O. Selznick. In "Hitchcock, Selznick & the End of Hollywood," director Peter Bogdanovich, modern-day studio mogul Al Hirschfeld and others recall the tempestuous collaboration that yielded several film masterpieces, including "Rebecca" and "Notorious."

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Enterprise

In "Cogenitor," the starship's crew members meet humanoids who mate through a menage a trois involving a man, a woman and a third sex. Unhappy about the discrimination the third gender endures, Trip (Connor Trinneer) sets out to do something about it.

7 p.m. and DSC

Unsolved History

As the sixth anniversary of a tragedy that rocked the world approaches, the new episode "Death of Princess Diana" retraces the circumstances that claimed the life of one of the most beloved figures of modern times. Forensic detectives travel to the Paris tunnel where the car carrying Diana and her boyfriend, Dodi Fayed, crashed while being pursued by paparazzi on motorbikes. The victims' injuries are assessed anew.

Movie: The Absent Minded Professor

Fred MacMurray ("My Three Sons") flies high as Professor Ned Brainard, the inventor of the amazing substance Flubber, in this enjoyable 1961 Disney fantasy-comedy. The material's energy increases every time it hits a hard object, making it invaluable to school basketball players who have it in their sneakers. Flubber also lets the professor take a drive across the sky with the woman (Nancy Olson) he adores.

Thursday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

The Amazing Race 4

Another around-the-world quest comes to an end in the season finale of producer Jerry Bruckheimer's ("CSI: Crime Scene Investigation") unscripted series. As illustrated by a car race on a slick road, the dash to the finish line is a mad one for the 12 teams that have endured all sorts of adventures. One contestant bares everything, quite literally, in a last-ditch bid to claim the $1 million grand prize. Phil Keoghan is the host.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Friends

After Joey (Matt LeBlanc) lets her visit the set of the soap opera he's on, Rachel (Jennifer Aniston) dreams about him in a romantic way in "The One With Rachel's Dream." Panicked, she seeks counsel from Monica (Courteney Cox Arquette), who can't get away for the weekend

Chandler (Matthew Perry) has orchestrated. He grudgingly agrees to let Ross (David Schwimmer) take Monica's place.

8 p.m. and TNT

Movie: The Pledge

After appearing in his film "The Crossing Guard," Jack Nicholson reteamed with director Sean Penn for this 2001 psychological study of a retiring police officer. He decides to stay around a while longer, much to the chagrin of his superiors, to add his expertise to the search for a youngster's killer. Benicio Del Toro, Robin Wright Penn (Sean's wife) and Vanessa Redgrave also star.

8 p.m. on USA

Movie: A Bronx Tale

Robert De Niro made his directorial debut with this 1993 drama in which he stars along with the story's writer, Chazz Palminteri. De Niro plays a father concerned about his son's (Francis Capra) worshipful involvement with a local crime boss (Palminteri). While the boy is seduced by the apparent excitement of the mobster's life, his dad recognizes — and fears — the inherent dangers.

The Bernie Mac Show

Jordan (Jeremy Suarez) practices magic after Bernie (Bernie Mac) steers him away from ventriloquism in "Magic Jordan." When Vanessa (Camille Winbush) brings a new female friend home, Jordan attempts to impress her with the tricks he's learned. His effort fails, so Bernie tries to lift his spirits. Comic magicians Penn & Teller guest star.

Movie: La Bamba

Lou Diamond Phillips stars in this acclaimed 1987 biopic as Ritchie Valens, the teenage Latin American rock star whose red-hot career was cut short by the 1959 plane crash remembered as "the day the music died." Esai Morales and Elizabeth Pena also star. The band Los Lobos delivers a memorable soundtrack, including a rendition of Valens' hit "La Bamba."

7:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Wanda at Large

Eager to get added exposure for "The Beltway Gang," Roger (Jason Kravits) gets Wanda and Bradley (Wanda Sykes, Phil Morris) to go to a basketball game — without letting them know they'll have adjacent seats — in "Wanda and Bradley." There's palpable tension as soon as they get to the game, but the occasion takes on a surprisingly different tone for them as it proceeds.

Wanda Sykes, Phil Morris

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Boston Public

Hanson (Michael Rapaport) encourages an awkward pupil (guest star Aaron Himelstein) to campaign for a student council seat, though the boy's mother (guest star Amanda Carlin) has reservations about it, in "Chapter Sixty-Three." Ronnie (Jeri Ryan) basks in the praise she receives for her impact on the school, but Guber and Fischer (Anthony Heald, Jon Abrahams) aren't so thrilled.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Grounded for Life

Ashton Kutcher, star of Fox's "That '70s Show" and the movie "Just Married" — and much-reported paramour of Demi Moore — makes a brief guest appearance in "Dust in the Wind." Kutcher plays the now-deceased cousin of Sean and Eddie (Donal Logue, Kevin Fitzgerald Corrigan).

4 p.m. on ESPN

Horse Racing

With its historic summer horse-racing season in full swing, the tiny town of Saratoga Springs, N.Y., gains a portion of the national sports spotlight today with the running of the Travers Stakes. The reason? A much-anticipated rematch between New York-bred gelding Funny Cide — whose six owners reside in and around Saratoga — and Empire Maker. Funny Cide came out of nowhere to win the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, while Maker captured the Belmont.

6 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Like Mike

An orphaned teen (Lil' Bow Wow) finds a pair of old sneakers with the initials "MJ" inside. Could they possibly have belonged to the great Michael Jordan? Whatever the reason, they allow him to do great things on the basketball court and be discovered by an NBA team. Jonathan Lipnicki, Robert Forster, Crispin Glover and Anne Meara also star in this heartwarming 2002 fantasy.

6:30 p.m. on TNT

NASCAR Racing

The boys of NASCAR are back at it less than a week after racing 400 miles around Michigan International Speedway. Tonight, it's the scheduled 500 lapper at the half-mile Bristol Motor Speedway in Tennessee. Jeff Gordon added to his legend by scoring his 59th career victory in last year's Sharpie 500, in the process breaking an 11-month, 31-race winless streak. It was his fifth win at Bristol, but first in the track's night race.

6:30 p.m. on USA

Movie: U-571

Suspense runs deep for a U.S. submarine crew during World War II in director Jonathan Mostow's ("Terminator 3: Rise of the Machines") skillfully made 2000 thriller. Led by Matthew McConaughey's character, the enlisted men board a German U-boat to steal an encoding device that can help the Allies. Trapped aboard that ship, they become targets of Nazi and U.S. forces. Bill Paxton and Jon Bon Jovi also star.

6:45 p.m. on ESPN

College Football

Didn't Ohio State just win the national championship? It seems so, but another college football season kicks off tonight, nonetheless, with California visiting Kansas State. ESPN analyst Mike Gottfried thinks the Wildcats could go all the way, and an explosive backfield featuring returning rusher Darren Sproles and quarterback Eli Roberson is a big reason why. A young Cal team could struggle, but redshirt frosh running back Marcus O'Keith is a player.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

NBC Primetime Preview

NBC spotlights its new series for fall in this special, with many familiar faces among the shows' stars. Rob

Lowe returns as an attorney in "The Lyon's Den"; Whoopi Goldberg operates a hotel in "Whoopi"; John Larroquette and Christine Baranski head a "Happy Family"; and James Caan and Alicia Silverstone make their series debuts in, respectively, "Las Vegas" and "Miss Match." Also, single friends consider "Coupling."

9 p.m. on 26-ABC

on 13-ABC

Dragnet

Jack Webb never would have been in this position: Joe Friday's (Ed O'Neill) career hangs in the balance after he kills a fellow cop while protecting a n innocent man in "The Little Guy." He prepares to be interrogated by a review board, which will decide whether the murder was accidental. Raymond J. Barry and Mercedes Colon guest star.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

A wealthy contractor is killed in what looks like a failed robbery in "Hitman." But Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) suspect a professional hit commissioned by the victim's young wife and her lover (guest stars Gretchen Egolf and Bobby Cannavale). McCoy (Sam Waterston) thinks he has the shooter — until Southerlyn (Elisabeth Rohm) learns the man is behind bars. S. Epitha Merckson also stars.

Kelly Brook and Lou Diamond Phillips

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"CHICAGO": As the Oscar-winning film that brought back attention to movie musicals, first-time film director Rob Marshall's version of the stage hit casts Renee Zellweger and best supporting actress Catherine Zeta-Jones as murderesses in 1920s Chicago. The other link between them is a cagey lawyer (Richard Gere), who is more than happy to advance his career by handling their sensational cases. The solid supporting cast includes Queen Latifah, John C. Reilly, Lucy Liu, Taye Diggs and Christine Baranski. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Marshall and screenwriter Bill Condon; deleted scenes; behind-the-scenes footage. **** (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"BOWLING FOR COLUMBINE": While he caused a stir with his speech when he won an Oscar for this documentary, Michael Moore - also honored by the Cannes Film Festival - delivers a powerful portrait of the United States' gun culture, using the Colorado high-school shootings as his springboard. In one of the most-discussed scenes, Moore interviews then-National Rifle Association chief Charlton Heston on the central subject. DVD extras: audio commentary by interns; Moore interview; Moore appearance on "The Charlie Rose Show"; Moore's interview of former White House Press Secretary

"THE KID STAYS IN THE PICTURE":

The story of Robert Evans may seem like a Hollywood movie, but it's all true. The producer ("Chinatown," "Urban Cowboy," "How to Lose a Guy in 10 Days"), ex-actor and former Paramount Pictures studio chief narrates this compelling, award-winning 2002 account of his life and times. Still photos and behind-the-scenes footage recall his nurturing of screen classics "Love Story" and "The Godfather," his marriage to actress Ali MacGraw, and his role in a high-profile murder case. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by directors Brett Morgen and Nanette Burstein; various Evans speeches and interviews; interviews with celebrities and filmmakers about Evans; Dustin Hoffman parody of Evans on the set of "Marathon Man." **** (Not rated: AS, P)

"SIMON AND GARFUNKEL: THE CONCERT IN CENTRAL PARK":

After more than a decade of pursuing separate musical careers, Paul Simon and Art Garfunkel reunited in 1981 for an unforgettable New York night, which reminded the attending crowd of the melodic magic the duo created in the 1960s. This well-filmed documentary of the concert includes many of the hits the performers had separately and together, such as "Late in the Evening," "America," "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and - of course - "Mrs. Robinson" and "The Sounds of Silence." **** (Not rated)

"THE GOOD THIEF": For all of his leading-man roles, Nick Nolte also has excelled as a character actor, a gift he demonstrates in director Neil Jordan's ("The Crying Game") intriguing drama about a veteran gambler who's having a bad run at the tables. He plans to compensate for his losses by robbing a casino in southern France, and he also sets up a phony heist to cloak the real one. The only problem? Someone is on to his scheme; Tcheky Karyo co-stars. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Jordan; "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes. *** (R: AS, P, V)

"ALL THE REAL GIRLS": Like the boy who cried "wolf," a young serial philanderer (played by Paul Schneider) isn't believed by anyone when he claims he has found his true love (Zooey Deschanel, "The Good Girl") - who happens to be his best friend's sister - in writer-director David Gordon Green's sensitive drama. He tries to take it slow with the relationship, while she's uncertain of the right moves to make with her much more experienced suitor. Patricia Clarkson ("Far From Heaven") co-stars. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Green and cast members; "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes. *** (R: AS, P)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"FROM JUSTIN TO KELLY" (Aug. 26): First "American Idol" finalists Kelly Clarkson and Justin Guarini croon together in a romantic musical-comedy. (PG: AS, P)

"LEVITY" (Aug. 26): Paroled after serving nearly two decades for a murder, an ex-convict (Billy Bob Thornton) seeks redemption. Holly Hunter and Kirsten Dunst co-star. (R: AS, P)

"THE LORD OF THE RINGS: THE TWO TOWERS" (Aug. 26): Frodo (Elijah Wood) and his comrades proceed in their quest as the J.R.R. Tolkien fantasy saga continues. (PG-13: P, V)

Funny Cide-Empire Maker rematch on tap for Travers

By George Dickie

As the field moved into the final turn, J.P. Constance noticed something strange about his horse.

Funny Cide's ears were back.

"Not good," Constance, a part owner, recalls thinking as he watched his 3-year-old gelding fade in the stretch and finish third in the Belmont Stakes on June 7, "because he's scared when that happens. Generally, he's perky and his ears are forward. Now that's probably not a true sign. But you know, you look for different things. He runs beautifully, and as you know, there are all sorts of things to look at. But the fact that Jose (Santos, the jockey) was really leaning on him to hold him back really tired him right out, both of them."

For the three weeks that separated this year's Preakness and Belmont Stakes, the "Sackets Six," six 50-ish high-school friends from the Lake Ontario burg of Sackets Harbor, N.Y., basked in the spotlight trained on their unlikely champion. They happily granted interviews to national media of every stripe, bemusedly signed autographs for strangers in restaurants, and cordially received well-wishers on the street. No part of this Triple Crown experience was taken for granted.

Things have calmed down for the jovial Constance and his partners - Larry Reinhardt, Mark Phillips, Harold Cring, Jack Knowlton and Pete Phillips - since that rainy day at Belmont Park when their horse finished behind Empire Maker and Ten Most Wanted.

But the national attention is likely to resurface this week as Funny Cide and Empire Maker appear headed for a rematch in the Travers Stakes, which airs live on ESPN on Saturday, Aug. 23, from the Saratoga Race Course in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

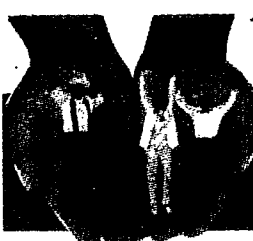

Constance is nonplussed by the prospect of such a reunion, even though he readily acknowledges his horse didn't run his best race. "Who could in that crap?" he asks. "A lot of people would love to see the matchup. Empire Maker is a beautiful animal, as is ours. They're both top shelf. Would I like to run against Empire Maker? I'd just as soon run every race without anybody else in it. But we're going to have to do it, and I think Travers is as good a time as any to do it. Both horses should be in tip-top shape for that."

After the Triple Crown races, the cofers of Sackatoga Stables, the partnership the six men formed in 1995, are in pretty good shape, too. Constance, a four-percent owner, made an initial $5,000 investment, then several smaller ones over the years, making for a total of almost $10,000. During that period, the partners have owned nine horses. "That's all I've got invested in horse racing, which is pretty darn good for a hobby," Constance, an optician, says. "I mean, I don't have four-by-fours or snowmobiles or clubs or fishing camps or any of that stuff. So, what the hey?"

"Now, of course, we're definitely in the black," he continues. "I mean, after winning $600,000 at the Kentucky Derby, we were like, 'My God! That was more money than we thought we'd ever see in our lifetimes. ... And of course, then the Preakness ($600,000). Then coming in third at the Belmont, my God, we won over $100,000! I mean, holy moly! You can't beat this stuff!"

And if the money wasn't thrilling enough for the men, the media attention was. Constance points to the giddy interview he and his partners did with Katie Couric on "Today" the day before the Belmont as his most memorable media moment. "We were only supposed to be a four-minute segment, and I think it went almost 10," he recalls. "And after it was all over, (a producer)
